AL SMITH is to run again for Governor of New York State. That's settled, and it interests the country because the national election may depend on New York.

Two Republicans want to run against Smith. One is Colonel William Hayward, with a fighting record in the European war, and also in the war against "booze" in New York. The other is Theodore Roosevelt the second, who resembles his father in having been Assistant Secretary of the Navy and a member of the New York Legislature.

Colonel Hayward is a "dry," at least to the extent of rigidly enforcing the law as it stands. Theodore Roosevelt is counted a "wet," because of his having voted for beer in the New York Legislature.

CONGRESSMAN CAREW, important member of Tammany Hall, called on La Follette's son in Washington and then predicted that men voting for La Follette would vote for Governor Smith. The situation gives Governor Smith's friends opportunity to trade votes with La Follette.

Wall Street election gamblers expect something of the kind apparently. They still bet 3 to 1 on Coolidge, and bet even money that Al Smith will carry New York State. They don't expect Mr. Davis to get all of the Smith vote.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE continues to keep cool. His friends say that he will not take the stump. If he has anything to say, it will be said at Washington. If Hughes had done that, he would probably have been elected. It's a wise man that knows when not to talk.

CHANG TSO-LIN, one of the two military gangsters fighting each other in China, will have the support of Russia with Japan, says Peking. With that support the Manchurian fighter will probably win his fight. The next step, perhaps, will be a three-cornered alliance—Russia, Japan and China. If that comes, the rest of the world, including this country, will have something to think about.

Old invasions from Asia, savages coming on foot, and on shaggy little ponies, were bad enough. Modern Asiatic invasion by flying machines, automobile and tank, with Russia guiding and helping, would be worse.

THE SO-CALLED STATESMEN of this country that have repeatedly insulted Russia, and foolishly presumed to dictate the character of the Russian government, in an effort to collect loans made by childishly foolish American financiers, are not helping their country.

JOHN PHILLIP HILL, Congressman from Maryland, tested prohibition by squeezing juice out of apples, letting the juice stand. Nature followed her course, the cider got "hard" developing more than one-half of one per cent. alcohol. Congressman Hill is indicted by the Federal Grand Jury for "manufacture and possession of liquor."

IS A MAN responsible for the regular workings of nature's laws presumably originated and sanctioned by the ruler of the universe?

Mr. Hill squeezed out sweet apple juice out of apples. Nature did the rest. Did the Grand Jury indict nature, or Congressman Hill?

AUSTIN CAROLINE, a prisoner on parole, stole six crullers, presumably because he was hungry. The parole board sentenced him to six months for the theft of the crullers, plus two years to finish off the term in which he had been paroled. This is a country in which it is not safe to steal six crullers.

BANK GUARD GONE WITH $100,000

Trusted Employe of the Union Trust Co. of Springfield, Miss-ing, With Pack of Bills

Springfield, Sept. 25.—William J. Hanifan, a trusted employe of the Union Trust Company, of this city, absconded today with $100,000 in currency, according to the police.

Hanifan, who was a guard employed by the bank for about fourteen years, went to the postoffice to get the money and failed to return.

The entire detective department of the Springfield police has been assigned to the case, and Hanifan's description has been broadcast.

According to the police, Hanifan, who is a bachelor living at No. 24 Reeds place, was instructed by bank officials to go to the postoffice and get the money, which had been sent to the trust company by registered mail. He was told to take another guard with him, but hurried out alone, wearing civilian clothes.

When a considerable time had elapsed without Hanifan's reappearance the police were notified, and at once began a search for the missing man. Railroad stations were

Seven Years' Battle Over Dead Pig Is Finally Ended

Kittery, Me., Sept. 25—Seven years of legal battling over a dead pig, during which four lawyers continued to fight the case grew old and died, came to an anti-climax today when the town settled its suit with Elmer H. Twombley of Portsmouth, the plaintiff, for $432.

The pig was purchased by Twombley from the town farm at Kittery Point of the Twombley family were made sick by eating that pork, and Twombley brought suit for $16,000 against the town.

Every time the case was ready to come to trial, one of the counsel died, and there was a postponement. A large part of the town's cash has been tied up in a Portsmouth bank during this time.

Twombley has agreed to accept the $432.

GIANTS IN MAD SURGE FOR PENNANT

By NICK FLATLEY

The champion New York Giants continue the most outrageous fight in baseball history. With a crippled team, they refuse to be beaten. They have whacked the Pirates over in a row and jumped into second place club out of the race. They have held off the flying Dodgers in a fine finish. They have the pennant in their grasp.

Nothing like another season.

TROLLEY UPSETS AUTO; TWO MEN INJURED

Two men were injured today when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a trolley car in Hammond and Dudley streets, Chestnut Hill, and was overturned. They were Howard P. Conrad of No. 46 Lothrop street, Newtonville, operator of the machine, and John Brennan, No. 24 Woodward street, Newton. Both were taken to the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

The accident happened when the automobile attempted to cross in front of the trolley.

GIRL TURNS ON GAS HEATER

Little Ones Perish In Their Sleep When She Forgets to Shut It Off

Two tiny children were suffocated by fumes from a gas heater in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Robinson, No. 567 Chestnut street, Lynn, early today.

The little victims were two-year-old Kathleen Sullivan, daughter of Mrs. Lottie Sullivan of No. 9 Pulfrey place, Lynn, and Geneva Stacey, three years, whose father, Ralph Stacey, lives on No. 1 Hawthorne place in the same city.

The children, who had been heard at the Robinson home from the time they were a few months old, were asleep in a small room off the kitchen.

Shortly before eleven o'clock last night, according to the police, Miss Pearl Hodgson, eighteen-year-old daughter of the Robinsons, turned on the gas heater in order to obtain some heat.

After using what she wanted the girl failed to turn the meter, forgetful of the heater, which was left burning.

About 12:35 a. m. her brother, Ernest, Jr., awakened by the noise of rushing water, made an investigation.

He found the heater burning, the tank full of boiling water and all the ale in the kitchen exhausted by the gas.

Rushing into the room where the children slept, young Robinson discovered their lifeless bodies.

He notified a physician, called Medical Examiner Nathaniel F. Brood. The police were summoned, and, with a policeman, the medical examiner worked on the children for more than an hour, without success.

Eventually they were pronounced dead by the medical examiners, and said they came to their end in an accident.

Mrs. Robinson was unable to tell the police where the parents of the children were living. Efforts, however, the police learned, of Sullivan and Stacey.

ROOSEVELT NAMED FOR GOVERNOR

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Theodore Roosevelt, Oyster Bay, son of the former President, was nominated for Governor by the Republican State Convention here today. The choice was made upon the first ballot. Colonel Roosevelt had a majority over the combined votes of his three competitors, Colonel William Hayward, Guy B. Moore and Justice Arthur S. Tompkins.

COOLIDGE HOLDING LEAD IN BAY STATE VOTE

The close of the second day's voting in the Boston American's division of the nation-wide Presidential preference vote being conducted by the Hearst newspapers, find President Coolidge with a lead of 372 votes over Senator La Follette and a majority of 95 votes over the combined totals of both La Follette and Davis.

The score for two days is:

Total number of votes cast	1453
For Calvin Coolidge, Rep.	774
For R. M. La Follette, Pro.	398
For John W. Davis, Dem.	281
Coolidge's plurality	372
Coolidge's majority	95

Shift from Cox (1920) to Coolidge	70
From Harding (1920) to Davis	69
From Cox, Dem., to La Follette	178
From Harding, Rep., to La Follette	103
First voters for Coolidge	32
First voters for La Follette	34
First voters for Davis	19

COOLIDGE GAINING.

President Coolidge made a much better showing than on the first day of the canvass, largely because one of the investigators strolled into the financial district while another covered eight floors of the Jewelers' Building, No. 373 Washington street. There were few votes for Mr. Davis in the neighborhood of No. 50 Congress street and there was none for Senator La Follette. In the Jewelers' Building, the sentiment appeared to be that the election of Mr. Coolidge will mean "business."

Here are the Greater Boston figures for the second day:

Coolidge	469
La Follette	169
Davis	132

Shift from Cox (1920) to Coolidge	53
From Harding (1920) to Davis	35
From Cox, Dem., to La Follette	80
From Harding, R., to LaFollette	72
First voters for Coolidge	19
First voters for La Follette	17
First voters for Davis	13

In several of the establishments in the Jewelers' Building the head of the house appeared willing to discuss the situation and did so vigorously. It was observed that in cases where this happened the employes usually voted as their chief talked. More than one person in the building appeared to be reluctant to vote and in this connection it should, perhaps, be explained that this vote is as secret as your ballot on Election Day. No effort is made to identify the voter. No

COPLEY SQUARE FLOOD CAUSES BIG LOSS

Property loss amounting to many thousands of dollars resulted today when a 42-inch high pressure water main burst in Copley Square.

A large hole was torn in the street, many hundreds of square feet of paving was destroyed, while buildings within a radius of several blocks were flooded by the water, which reached a depth of more than three feet.

For two hours the water poured in a four-foot flood from the gusher in the street, until the emergency crews had shut off sections on Dartmouth, on Clarendon and Newbury streets on the north and as far south as Francis street, Roxbury.

The cellar of the Boston Public Library was under three feet of water. Across the street the water poured into the basement of the store and warehouse of S. S. Pierce, doing damage that will run high into the thousands.

BASEMENT FLOODED.

The Hotel Westminster, almost a block away, was the heaviest sufferer. Before the water was shut off from the broken main the basement of the Westminster was under four feet of water. A cafeteria, the hotel kitchen and the boiler rooms were completely flooded. It was necessary to draw the fires in the boilers to prevent an explosion.

City Public Works Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke said:

"The break in Copley square was caused by some extra weight resting on the pipe and breaking its back. That is what always causes such breaks. Some concrete structure that was placed in the street after the pipe was put in sagged on account of the heavy traffic and this extra weight resting upon the pipe weakened it so that it broke.

"Anti[illegible] weakness in that pipe, we made tests last week in Huntington avenue near Dartmouth street, where the pipe crosses the railroad bridge. The holes are still open where we made the tests. We thought the pipe might be weak where it enters the soft earth again."

The Boston Elevated and the city of Boston suffered heavy losses in the damage done to the streets and the trolley tracks. The flood extended as far as Boylston street, where it seeped through the subway, but did no serious damage.

The Copley-Plaza, in the path of the flood, escaped serious damage through the quick work of Night Manager Howe. When the water was within a few inches of the hotel entrances the night manager routed out twenty porters and armed with brooms and brushes, these workers swept back the waters. A small amount of water found its way into the Swiss room of the hotel, but the damage was slight. Guests at the hotel were not aroused during the excitement.

NOTIFIED BY WATCHMAN.

Martin Quinn and Richard Pierce, night watchmen at the Public Library, discovered the broken main when water poured into the basement of the library building. They at once notified the Public Works Department, and two crews under Foreman John Daugherty and Patrick Hughes were rushed to the scene. The men at once started the work of closing the valves on the mains feeding the big main.

The water had undermined a large section of the street before it broke through the surface. When the waters finally reached the street a round hole, twenty-five feet in diameter was torn in the street and the trolley tracks were lifted in the air for a distance of twenty feet. For a distance of 60 feet, the concrete base of the trolley tracks was washed away.

The break occurred at the juncture of Dartmouth and Blagden streets and Huntington avenue and the water flowed in all directions.

MERCHANDISE DAMAGED.

Tons of water poured into the basement of the Pierce building across Huntington avenue from the Library, ruining a large stock of merchandise. The basement of the business block at Nos. 15 to 35 Huntington avenue was flooded, while the water entered a number of the storerooms.

The water pouring from the broken main flowed in a heavy torrent which jutted about four feet into the air. A drug store, a lunch room, two automobile tire shops and an automobile salesroom in the Huntington avenue block were flooded.

The flood of waters completely surrounded the Copley-Plaza Hotel. The Westminster Hotel and the Ludlow apartment hotel on St. James avenue, 100 yards from the broken main, were swept by the flood.

WATER TURNED OFF.

Across the street, the Trinity Church was threatened for a time, but the water did not rise above the stone curbing about the edifice. The flood continued down St. James street to Clarendon street and over Dartmouth street to Boylston street. For a time a large section of Boston proper was without water, as a result of the break in the main. When service was finally restored, only a small pressure was available. The broken main carried 95 pounds pressure, but until the break is repaired, the water in the section affected will have but slight pressure.

As soon as the water was shut off from the broken main, steps were taken to repair the damage. Across the square in front of the Copley-Plaza hotel, the street paving was undermined and raised in big waves.

Until a thorough examination has been made it will be impossible to expedite just how much street paving will have to be replaced. The Elevated officials were on the scene before daylight, starting the work of restoring the lines destroyed by the flood.

The Public Library, which bore much of the brunt of the flood, suffered only a slight loss, as the components flooded in the basement were for the most part used for the storage of coal. The library engine room was damaged somewhat.

CURLEY RALLY K. K. CIRCULARS GIVEN OUT AT

Pittsfield, Sept. 21.—The Ku Klux Klan took up the challenge issued by Mayor Curley of Boston in opening his gubernatorial campaign in western Massachusetts by going into competition with him in the distribution of literature at a rally here today.

While the Mayor was speaking and his workers were passing out Curley pamphlets, a member of the klan gave out copies of the "Klan-kreed" to members of the crowd.

As soon as Mayor Curley learned what had happened, he returned to the platform to denounce afresh the hooded order and to insist again that the klan was the principal issue of his campaign.

He read from one of the circulars that they were distributed by "W. T. Lewis, General Delivery, Pittsfield." Then, after scouting the klansmen of hiding during the war between sheets which they now wrap around their heads, he promised as Governor, on Jan. 7, to "secure a number of cattle cars, fill them with a collection of skunks, coyotes and muskrats and send them to the land of the bookworm."

LENINGRAD RUIN FROM FLOOD WIDESPREAD

Leningrad, Russia, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—After days of gales and floods, Leningrad today resembled a hurricane-swept city of the Western plains of the United States.

Everywhere the flood, which swept in from the Gulf of Finland Tuesday, left wreckage and ruin in its wake. The streets and boulevards, which are paved with wood on blocks, floated away, while the population were made captives in their homes.

Ten lives have been reported as lost, while there have been many casualties. A number of small fires have broken out, due to short-circuiting of electric wires. Several bridges were carried away.

LONGSHOREMEN ASKED TO ACCEPT OLD SCALE

Members of the International Longshoremen's Union, numbering 40,000 at North Atlantic ports, with 5,000 here, are considering the offer of the steamship lines of a renewal of the present wage scale for a year from Oct. 1, and the extension of the Saturday half-holiday from four to six months.

Officials of the union have recommended acceptance of the proposition by the membership.

The longshoremen asked an increase of 10 cents an hour and minor changes in the working rules.

Four Lives Saved in Fire by Barking of Pet Dog

Attleboro, Sept. 25.—The barking of Bob, a pet dog, awakened Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Perron of Seekonk avenue to the realization that their home was filled with smoke and a fire was raging in the cellar.

The Perrons, with their two children, escaped suffocation by going out windows clad only in their night clothes.

LYNN BOY HELD AS FATHER'S RUM AGENT

The age limit for Lynn bootleggers dropped today when Hyman Litchman, fifteen, suffered the embarrassment of having five gallons of "moonshine" in his hand just as several Lynn policemen appeared from their hiding places.

Hyman is the son of Joseph Litchman of No. 124 Vine street, and was so startled that he told the police his father had more. A subsequent search of the Litchman premises netted twenty-three gallons, so Joseph was taken into custody with his son.

Hyman may be a "kid," but he's had the Lynn police on edge for some weeks, they say. Not until he noticed that the papers in Hyman's auto seemed to be the same old papers, no matter what the date, did they begin to smell something.

Today when Hyman drove up to a Neptune street house in his father's automobile with the five gallons, the police acted.

The father was arraigned today in court charged with illegally keeping liquor and permitting an unauthorized person to operate his automobile.

Hyman will be arraigned in juvenile court next Wednesday.

AUTOISTS HELD AFTER BATTLE WITH POLICE

Two men in an automobile were arrested after a battle at Tremont and Ruggles streets, Roxbury, by Patrolmen Thomas F. O'Malley and Lawrence J. McLaughlin.

They were booked as Thomas F. Rowan of Heath street and John M. Rooney, Yeoman street, both Roxbury.

Rowan was charged with drunkenness, operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, having no license and no certificate of registration.

Rooney was charged with assault and battery on Patrolman McLaughlin and with drunkenness.

A man who said he was a member of the Legislature, who was called on for aid by the policemen, refused to come to their assistance.

The policemen, while standing on the corner, saw a touring car speeding up Tremont street. It turned around and came back, and they stopped it. Both occupants were visibly under the influence of liquor, according to the police, and when they attempted to take them from the machine, a bottle fell out.

Both resisted arrest, and struggled to free themselves. Rooney attacked McLaughlin, and, while the battle was going on, someone telephoned for assistance and the patrol arrived shortly. In the meantime the bystander, who had refused to assist, and who said he was a legislator, had disappeared.

The cases of both men were continued to October 3 in Roxbury Court today.

CAN'T GET JOB BECAUSE OF SHOOTING

Man Cleared by Police Finds His Innocence Is Not Fully Understood

James C. Maresco of No. 10 Chestnut street, Chelsea, is a victim of circumstances.

Because he was questioned by the police in connection with the shooting of Patrolman Albert Motroni in East Boston, he is having difficulty in obtaining a job.

Satisfied that he had no part in the murder of the officer, the police released Maresco.

He had met George Wright, slayer of Patrolman Montroni, at the Marine Hospital in Chelsea. With others at the institution, Maresco went to ride with Wright, never suspecting his automobile was stolen.

Wright did slight favors for young Maresco and the day of the shooting had obtained a job for him painting in the house in East Boston where he had a room.

A friend called to see Maresco there, and the latter accompanied him to a nearby store to purchase cigars. While they were gone the two policemen entered the house and the shooting occurred.

On learning what had happened, Maresco went to the police station, where he was held and questioned, and eventually released. Since that time whenever the young man, in seeking work, has given his name, he has been rejected.

PASTOR TELLS HOW OTHER WOMAN GAVE TRYST SIGNALS IN CHURCH

KILLED WIFE BECAUSE 'DYING FOR LOVE'

Nashville, Ill., Sept. 25.—The Rev. Lawrence Hight made his fourth confession today.

The parson, in jail here, safe from mob menace, told of his relations with Mrs. Elsie Sweetin, in jail at Salem, charged with the murder of her husband, Wilford.

The clergyman detailed the development of the "love pact," which prompted the murder, and the killing of his wife, Annie, of whose murder he is accused. He ended with a plea for "justice, not mercy."

He traced back the twenty-six years of his married life. He poisoned the wife who had stayed at his side in the days of abject poverty, to be free to marry Elsie Sweetin, who was his ideal, he said.

He told how he placed the deadly portion of arsenic in his wife's coffee and told how he kissed her cold lips, not in sorrow for her death, but because he could then rush to the arms of his beloved. He was free.

It would never have happened, he said, his eyes filling with tears, "if my wife hadn't started to nag about everything five or six years ago."

SYSTEM OF SIGNALS.

Then he met Elsie Sweetin. He told of the clandestine meetings with her and spoke irritably of the difficulties which a small town presented for their love tryst. He recalled a system of signals which they had thought out to deceive the prying eyes of natives.

"When she put her hands on her head in church," he said, "I was to follow her and pick up a message which usually breathed love and arranged a secret meeting for the night. When she passed her right hand across her heart that meant that her heart was for me and me alone."

"It was six years ago that my wife became cold," the little jockey-pastor began his story. "The first thing when I came home she would tell me about the children being bad or would meet me with some other minor complaint.

"I asked her time and again, 'Why don't you give me your love?' and her reply invariably was 'Oh, I haven't time for that,' and I was yearning so for the love of a woman who understood me.

"The first time I saw Mrs. Sweetin I loved her. I fought the feeling off until I couldn't resist it any longer.

"God, how I wanted to be free."

His face twitched and he made a little gesture with his hands. Then he continued:

"I was dying for love and I guess Elsie was, too. Her husband was a good provider, but he was not affectionate. We were two dissatisfied creatures looking to heaven for a true mate. And behind these bars, alone, deserted by all my friends, I can still honestly say to you that I love Mrs. Sweetin as much as ever. I still see her beautiful face as I lie on this cot in the cell.

TELLS OF POISONING.

"I love her with all my heart, and I know she loved me. Any man can tell when a woman puts her arms around him. Yes, I love her better than life. She is the perfect woman.

"I used to lie in bed dreaming of this woman and the words of my wife, 'I have no time for that,' would keep ringing in my ears.

"Perfect love is not known until perfect love is accepted and given. The world has forsaken me, but that's when the Lord comes in, for if all forsake, the Lord will not.

"I remember the morning I gave my wife the arsenic. She lay in bed, suffering from a paralytic stroke. She weighed 210 pounds and you can imagine the poor woman's plight. Four hours in one position and not able to move as much as her little finger. I guess it was about 4 a. m. that the crisis was at hand.

"I thought for a moment she was going to get well and I prayed she would. It was either a life of nagging or a life with my perfect mate, free. But as daylight was dawning I was hoping she would live."

Tears welled into his eyes and repentance and contrition were written on his face, to give way to a more sinister look as he went on.

"It was just at dawn that my wife, in the faintest whisper, asked for coffee. I went for the coffee. I didn't say to myself, 'Now, here is the chance.' But perhaps my subconscious mind was working, for I went directly to the kitchen pantry and reached for the container which held a death and a new life—a free life to live over again.

"I put a little powder in the coffee. I watched her for two days and nights after she drank that stuff. She improved a bit after she got the stuff in her vitals, for she could then move about a bit until she expired."

Then the pastor's mind reverted to the woman for whom he had done murder. He broke off his story to interject:

GAVE HIM NOTES.

"She handed me many notes, sometimes as I stood in the doorway of the little church when we shook hands, sometimes she dropped them as I walked a block or so behind her."

The clergyman was talking almost breathlessly now. He seemed anxious to unburden himself of the whole sordid story.

"Wilford Sweetin and I were good friends," he went on. "We wrestled about like chums, matching our physical prowess. We never had words. Mrs. Sweetin told me she never loved him. She married him when she was a child and didn't know what love was. At least, that's what she told me."

CONSCIENCE HURT.

"When I told Elsie goodbye after our conference at Mount Vernon she said: 'I'll be waiting for you,' and it thrilled me. At first I wanted to stick to my original confession wherein I said that I had poisoned both.

"She said she would take care of my children. But my conscience was not clear. So I told the truth. I want all the world to know I'm sorry. But what can I do?

"If I go to the penitentiary I want to be appointed chaplain. I have seen both sides of life—the clean and the seamy—and I believe I would be fitted for such a task.

"I feel as if this was all predrdained. God perhaps has thrown me in with prisoners, the transgressors of the laws of man, so that I may study them and pick out their flaws.

"I've got this scar, but now I want to live better than ever. I'm sorry this happened. It's killing my family. But I couldn't help it. Something just pulled me and I couldn't stop. Call it fate or anything you like."

PONZI WINNERS STAY AWAY FROM COURT

Judge Says He Will Default Those on the Docket Who Don't Appear Monday

The hearing in Federal Court of the suits brought by the Ponzi trustees against those who withdrew their money from Ponzi before the crash came struck a snag today when Martin Witt, counsel for the trustees, found no more defendants on hand.

There are 123 down on the docket still to come to trial, and an indefinite number more, but it has been impossible to serve subpoenas on a majority of them because they have disappeared, Witt said.

Stenographers are working 12 hours a day making out subpoenas which the United States marshal cannot serve, he added.

Judge Anderson adjourned court until Monday, when, he said, he would default those defendants now on the docket who do not appear.

Each defendant appears also as a witness for the trustees.

LURES CHILD IN AUTO AND KILLS HER

Slayer Confesses After Grilling and Leads Police to Little Victim's Grave

Gary, Ind., Sept. 25.—The body of Anna Tomicich, ten, bound with strips torn from her dress and gagged with a sand-filled handkerchief was uncovered in a sand-strewn, wooded waste on the outskirts of Gary today by police led to the spot by Peter Vergoine, thirty, charged with luring the girl into his automobile.

At the shallow grave in which the body had been placed, Vergoine, police say, confessed the crime.

The finding of the body ended in a State-wide search started Monday when the girl was seen to get into Vergoine's automobile. Vergoine, questioned Monday, denied he had driven the car, but said his brother John might have. He was then released and John taken into custody.

Circumstantial evidence, however, continued to point to Peter as the driver. He was unable satisfactorily to account for his actions Monday and today, after several hours of grilling, he volunteered to take police to the place where he had buried the body.

Would Ship Abroad All Discontented Americans

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Former Governor Henry F. Allen of Kansas would send to Russia, Turkey or Germany every discontented American who is advocating a change in the American form of government to see how the proposed changes are actually being worked out, he declared in an address here.

Mr. Allen, who recently returned from a trip through the countries he mentioned, spoke before the members of the Advertising Specialty Association in convention here.

Waterbury, Ct., Sept. 25 (I.N.S.).—John Musolini, twenty-seven, of this city, was shot dead in front of a local club house. The deed was committed, according to the police, by James Nykola, thirty-five, a building contractor of Stratford, and S. Lasarallo of Thomas street, Bridgeport. The shooting is believed to be the result of a bootleggers' war.

GIBLIN'S WIFE SUES CITY ON LAND TAKING

Charging that she was not paid enough by the city of Boston when awarded $11,000 for the taking of 350 square feet of land at No. 150-152 Cambridges treet, West End, in connection with the widening of Cambridge street, Mrs. Elizabeth C. Giblin, wife of Thomas P. Giblin, an East Boston politician, has brought suit to obtain more cash. The papers were served on the city of Boston today.

Mrs. Giblin owns a four-story brick block containing three stores and six apartments on the site in question. It also has an entrance at No. 5-7 South Russell street.

She claims the amount of money awarded her will not sufficiently compensate her for the damage to be done.

U. S. OFFICIALS PROBING ALCOHOL DISAPPEARANCE

How sixty barrels of alcohol, valued at $10,000, vanished from a downtown chemical plant while the federal government and Massachusetts courts were trying to arrive at a lawful method of disposing of it, is a riddle that has the police, "liquor squad" and the prohibition enforcements agents guessing.

AUTOIST FINDS GIRLS LYING IN STREET

Three East Boston girls were taken to the East Boston Relief Hospital by a motorist who found them in the middle of the road at Saratoga and Putnam streets, after, as they said, they had been thrown out of the car in which they had been riding.

They gave their names as Isabella O'Brien, eighteen, of No. 67 Falcon street; Theresa Burke, eighteen, of No. 66 Falcon street, and Beatrice McGee, seventeen, of No. 23 East Eagle street.

They refused to tell the police with whom they had been riding, but insisted that they had been thrown out of the car when the driver turned the corner too swiftly. All three were cut and bruised. They were picked up by Frank A. Doyle of No. 27 B street, South Boston.

Fire in Restaurant

A fire, caused by spontaneous combustion, broke out in a restaurant on the second floor of the four-story brick building, No. 672 Washington street, today. The building is owned by W. H. Bullard. The damage was estimated at $500.

ZR-3 TO START FOR AMERICA NEXT WEEK

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Sept. 25 (I.N.S.).—The giant dirigible ZR-3, built in Germany for the United States government, cast off at 9 a. m. today in its final trial flight before the voyage to America. All of the American officers, who later will man the ship, as well as twenty passengers, were aboard.

The ZR-3 will depart for America the latter part of next week if its motors function perfectly on this trial today and tomorrow.

In its last trip the big dirigible will stay aloft 36 hours, cruising the entire northern part of Germany as it bids farewell to the Fatherland.

Heavy winds blowing across the course the ship took coming from its hangar delayed the start of the trial flight two hours. Shortly after dawn the wind slackened and Dr. Eckener, in command, decided the start could be made.

FOND MOTHERS BRING GIRLS TO COLLEGE

With the Wellesley Inn and various boarding houses packed with fond mothers of entrants into the freshman class at Wellesley, Miss Ellen Fitz Pendleton, president of the college, is today busier than the South Station information clerk answering the following annual questions:

"Where will my daughter hang her tooth brush?"

"Will you see that my Helen doesn't lose her rubbers?"

"Can you see that Frieda doesn't lose her pretty Southern accent?"

"Won't you keep Eloise from spending all her allowance on silk stockings?"

Miss Pendleton

Since these questions run about the same at the opening of college every year, Miss Pendleton hasn't been stumped yet.

Many of the hypercritical mothers stay to superintend the furnishing of their daughter's room right down to the last fringed silk cushion. But the room suffers radical changes when mother departs.

SAN FRANCISCO WILL RECEIVE WORLD FLIERS

Clover Field, Santa Monica, Calif., Sept. 25.—Refreshed by a day of leisure spent near the starting point of their round-the-world flight, Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith and his band of army airmen were scheduled to hop off today for Crissy Field, San Francisco, the next stop on their northward progress toward Seattle, official terminus of the flight.

The fliers planned to follow the coast route, flying over Santa Barbara, Santa Maria, San Luis Obispo, Paso Robles, Salinas and San Jose.

Tomorrow, the three planes are scheduled to proceed from San Francisco to Eugene, Ore., spend the night there and continue on to Seattle Saturday.

PUPIL KILLED AND TWO HURT BY AUTO TRUCK

Providence, Sept. 25.—One high school pupil was killed instantly and two others were injured when an auto truck ran amuck in Warwick.

Racing up onto the sidewalk at the junction of Main street and East Greenwich avenue, the machine crushed the youngsters and smashed into a store.

The victim of the accident was Edgar B. Oak, sixteen years old, of Pawtuxet, who was instantly killed when crushed by the heavy vehicle. The two injured are Maud Hose, whose right arm was broken and who suffered possible internal injuries, and Frances Knapton, the suffered sprained thaxusa of right leg.

CHELSEA CALLS HELP TO FIGHT $10,000 FIRE

Fire, which destroyed a three-story frame rag shop at No. 235 East Third street, Chelsea, early today, became so menacing that the fire departments of Everett and Revere were summoned to aid the Chelsea firemen.

The rag business is conducted by Samuel German and Jacob Weldman. The cause of the fire is unknown. When the Chelsea firemen arrived the entire structure was in flames and adjoining business blocks were threatened.

CARDINALS DISCUSS CHURCH ADMINISTRATION

Washington, Sept. 25.—Conclusive discussion of various questions brought forward in consideration of church activities at the opening session was planned for today's sessions of the annual meeting here of the Catholic Hierarchy of America. The various divisional activities of the National Catholic Welfare Council formed the chief subject of discussion with the financing of home and foreign missions another question to be further considered.

BOBE CASE CHAUFFEUR ARRESTED BY POLICE

New York, Sept. 25.—In the arrest of John Feinstein, twenty-four years old, who gave his occupation as that of chauffeur, police believe they have one of the four men who on the night of September 16 held up and robbed Miss Edith Rebe of $25,000 in jewels and assaulted her escort, Robert L. NAME ELECTORS FOR LAFOLLETTE AS SOCIALISTS

Thirteen in California Were Barred From Ballot by a Supreme Court Decison

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Representative John M. Nelson of Wisconsin, national manager of the La Follette-Wheeler campaign, announced today that the independent organization's Presidential electors in California would be entered under the Socialist Party label.

San Francisco, Sept. 25.—Thirteen Presidential electors, named by petitions of California voters and committed to support the candidacy of Robert M. La Follette, stood barred today from the ballot at the general election in November as the result of a four to three decision of the State Supreme Court. The decision was based on the finding that a Presidential elector is merely the agent of a political party, operating solely through a political convention as a sort of messenger and, therefore, cannot be placed upon the ballot by initiative petition, but only through the agency of a party convention.

Aroused by the decision, La Follette supporters in San Francisco today were discussing measures which might overcome the legal handicap placed upon their candidate by the court. In Los Angeles the La Follette organization resolved to start a movement to recall the justices who wrote the majority opinion.

As far as the general election was concerned, two alternatives remained for the La Follette supporters today. One was to write in the names of the barred electors or to accept an offer of the Socialist Party group on the ticket of that party and thereby assure them a place on the ballot.

OVERDUE SHIP LEFT LAKE PORT TUESDAY

Detroit, Sept. 25.—The freighter Clifton, overdue here from Sturgeon Bay since Monday night, put in at Oscoda, according to a telephone message today from that port. This is the first report of the steamer since it left Mackinaw Sunday morning.

Oscoda is about fifty miles below Alpena. If the Clifton left Oscoda Tuesday morning it should have arrived in Detroit early Wednesday.

APPROVES DIVORCE FOR WIFE OF YOUNG SWIFT

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Superior Judge Sabath today indicated he would grant a decree of divorce to Mrs. Marion Atchison Swift, wife of Edward F. Swift, Jr., son of the packer. Mrs. Swift charged cruelty, saying her husband had knocked her down and had struck her. They were married February 6, 1918.

MISSING SCHOOLGIRLS FOUND AT FORT LEE, N. J.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 24.—Dorothy Allen and Olive Markham, high school girls, missing for three weeks, have been found at Fort Lee, N. J., according to word received by the police today. Their parents have gone to get them.

N. Y. Girl Shows Under Fire of Censors

New York, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the announcement that a police censorship of the questionable plays in Broadway theatres was to be established police detectives last night visited two productions against which complaints had been lodged. No arrests were made.

At the Music Box Earl Carroll, the producer of the revue under inspection, declared, it is said, that he would not alter a line or change a costume.

SIX HAVERHILL SHOE FACTORIES TO ENLARGE

Haverhill, Sept. 25.—The production of shoes in local factories is on the increase and six manufacturing companies are planning to enlarge their plants to handle orders. Business is better at present than it has been for more than a year.

The Hartman Shoe Company, Wright, Gorevitz & McNamara, Chesley & Rugg, Madison Shoe Company, L. Callahan & Co. and M. T. Ornsteen Company are the six firms that will increase the size of their plants to expedite production.

Shoe workers are again happy and are making good wages, despite the decrease handed them in May.

There is congestion in the stitching rooms of nearly all the factories and the factories enlarging their plants are thinking mainly of the need of more space for stitching operations.

The Hartman Company will make room for 100 extra spaces in its stitching departments.

The Madison Company intends to double its production. The L. Callahan firm is moving into larger and more modern quarters, shifting from Washington street to the cement building on Essex street.

For months there has been an overabundance of space in shoe factories, but this is rapidly being absorbed because of the business increase.

COOLIDGE KEEPS OUT OF BUTLER WRANGLE

Washington, Sept. 25.—It was indicated at the White House today that President Coolidge would not reply immediately to the request of the Law Enforcement League of Philadelphia to intervene in the controversy between Mayor Kendrick and his Director of Public Safety, Brigadier-General Smedley D. Butler.

Mr. Coolidge expects to devote his visit tonight to Philadelphia entirely to participation in the exercises commemorating the 150th anniversary of the meeting of the First Continental Congress, it was said.

CONGRESSMAN TAGUE WILL RUN ON STICKERS

A renewal of the bitter fight in the Tenth Congressional District loomed up today when it was announced that Congressman Peter F. Tague, defeated for renomination by John J. Douglass, will run on stickers at the November election.

Douglass, the Democratic nominee, was supported by Martin Lomasney, Ward 6, Mahattan, and polled a 1700 plurality over Tague.

DAVIS URGES WORKERS TO END WAR

Davis Special, Enroute to Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 25 (I.N.S.).—John W. Davis entered his home State today to renew his pledge of a square deal to American labor.

It was the Democratic nominee's third visit to West Virginia since the party chose him.

The candidate again stressed his labor platform and appealed to the working classes to support world peace and world disarmament.

Davis made a series of rear platform speeches. He endorsed the anti-child labor amendment to the constitution; urged new legislation to protect women in industry; condemned the abuse of the injunction writ in labor disputes and proclaimed the right of labor to contract for its working conditions.

At Hilton Davis told a crowd that three duties faced the nation's workers today, first, to preserve the equality of opportunity in America; second, to preserve equality under the Federal government, and, third, to eliminate wars.

KNICKER GIRLS STRANDED IN CANADA

Leominster, Sept. 25.—Chief of Police M. T. Conlon was today endeavoring to find ways and means of returning to their homes the two local girls now held by the Woodstock, N. H., authorities, owing to the failure of their parents to raise the carfares.

The girls, Annie and Elizabeth Christian, known as the "knicker girls," daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Christian, are said to be anxiously awaiting the forwarding of money in order that they may return to the bosom of their family.

The parents have been notified that the girls, who are eighteen and sixteen years old, respectively, are not held on any charges and will be sent home on receipt of carfares.

Mr. and Mrs. Christian, who have six other small children to support, are unable to raise the money, and it looks as though the girls may be forced to go to work to earn it.

They were taken into custody in Woodstock by Sheriff Albion Foster, Monday afternoon, after he met them wandering about the streets. The girls admitted they had been traveling companions of two young men for three weeks, during which time they had stolen a number of automobiles. The men were captured the next day and charged with implication in a number of auto thefts, to which they confessed. A number of shots were fired before they were captured.

17 DAWES SPEECHES TO HIT OUT AT LA FOLLETTE

Dawes Special, en route to Minneapolis, Sept. 25.—Charles G. Dawes swung into Minnesota today to inaugurate three days of the most strenuous campaigning he has undertaken since he accepted the Republican nomination for Vice-President. He said that in seventeen speeches he expects to emphasize what he considers the dominant issue of the campaign, the La Follette independent candidacy and the Constitution.

GIRL WON RICH HUB MAN BY SKILL ON JOB

Millionaire Widower Thought So Much of Her He Adopted Her

When Nadia Germaine Sakahini, pretty little Englishwoman, thirty-two years old, went to work as a clerk in the office of an American real estate firm in London, she never suspected that she was headed straight for a palatial mansion and an exalted place in America's smartest social set.

Miss Sakahini made so efficient a clerk and displayed such a winning disposition that she has just been adopted by her millionaire employer, Irving Swan Brown, fifty-four-year-old widower of Boston, New York and London.

The adoption has been completed in the courts of New York and Miss Nadia Germaine Sakahini Brown is now preparing to take her place in American society.

Brown, the wealthy adopted father of the Englishwoman, is a widower, father of one daughter, who is six years younger than her adopted sister. This daughter, Mrs. Frances Eldredge, wife of a New York broker, has given full consent to the adoption and is now entertaining her father and sister at her Summer place at East Hampton, L. I.

The romance which has entered the life of the Englishwoman reads like a fairy story. Brown, a graduate of Princeton, was for a number of years vice-president and general manager of the Dunham & McKay Company department store in Worcester. In 1896 he resigned his position and became interested in the Syndicate Trading Company, an organization which maintained many branches throughout Europe for the purchase of merchandise.

Mr. Brown was frequently called to Europe, and while in London on business connected with his branch there saw possibilities in the London real estate market.

He established himself in the real estate business in London, several years later, running the business in connection with his main office in New York. He made frequent visits to London to supervise his growing business.

His attention was frequently attracted to a beautiful young English girl who was employed as a clerk in the office. The girl's efficiency, coupled with her evident desire to please, attracted the wealthy American. He made inquiry about the clerk and found that she came from a home of very moderate circumstances in London.

As the months passed, the American millionaire was thrown more and more into contact with the young clerk on his visits to London. She was advanced from post to post until she finally was the virtual head of the office.

Then the American man of wealth suddenly found himself so attached to his clerk that he suggested to her that she return to America with him, and become, not his wife, but his daughter.

MANY ENTERED IN AIR TROPHY FLIGHT

Dayton, O., Sept. 25 (A.P.)—Eleven pilots from Selfridge Field, Mich., will compete in the John L. Mitchell trophy race, which will be held on the last day of the International air races Saturday, October 4, according to the complete list of entries for the races. All are lieutenants.

Only Curtiss PW-8 planes will take part in the Mitchell race, which is for pursuit type ships. It will be flown over a 100-kilometer course (124.27 miles). There will be three prizes, the first, the figure of a man symbolizing flight, and cups will be given as second and third awards.

Entrants are: Lieutenants H. R. Yeager, L. C. Hurd, J. T. Johnson, T. W. Hickam, G. P. Durtschi, P. K. Matthews, Cyrus Bettis, J. D. Summers, E. C. Whitehead, R. C. Moffat and D. F. Stace.

SHOOTS AT WIFE; TRIES TO KILL SELF

Rockland, Me., Sept. 25.—Harry D. Ludwig, a deck-hand on the steamer Wilton of the Portland-New York line, fired four shots at his wife, none of which took effect, and then sent a bullet into his own head.

"Modify" Quarrel

MRS. JOHN STEEL

Wife of noted tenor has reached an agreement with husband and counter suits have been withdrawn from the courts. Henceforth the couple will get along under a "Separation agreement amicably arrived at."

BASEBALL SUIT SAVES ICEMAN ON HUB TRIP

Leroy Little wanted to play, but his original idea had nothing to do with baseball, the season now being on the wane.

After a hard day of dragging 15-cent pieces of ice up three stairs and down three, all over East Lynn, Leroy is willing enough to drop the ice tongs and hie away from his Maple street home for such fun as can be collected by a trusing iceman.

In due time Leroy arrived in Boston, where he confided to a gentleman in the South End his mad desire to be light-hearted for the evening.

It seems that this gentleman was accommodating and knew just the place where Leroy could play to his heart's content.

When Leroy retired, his socks went with and on him. In one sock he had $48 and in the other $52.

He still had the socks when he woke up today, but one of them had slipped off somehow and the $48 roll was missing.

Then Leroy made the terrifying discovery that his trousers were missing, not to mention his shirt, coat and shoes. Leroy is far too burley to play Cupid in the city streets and get away with it.

Happy discovery, however! A baseball suit hung in a closet. Across the breast was emblazoned "Crawford," a noble baseball name, the title of one who was famed for his socks.

Leroy donned the suit and slid into the East Dedham street station, safe by a mile. He told his story, but he's still behind 48 to 0.

Tomorrow Leroy will play East Lynn.

BROOKHART OPPOSED FOR IOWA SENATORSRIP

Des Moines, Sept. 25.—Iowa political leaders today saw ushered in the latest angle of this State's already uncertain political status, the announcement of Luther A. Brewer, former publisher of the Cedar Rapids Republican, that he would enter the race for the United States Senate on an Independent ticket. Brewer said his object was to give "Iowa Republicans a chance to vote for a man who was not afraid to endorse President Coolidge." Senator Brookhart has refused to endorse the President.

SIXTH MAN CAUGHT IN JAMAICA PLAIN HOLDUP

John Baker of No. 58 Austin street, Charlestown, was arrested on a charge of robbery, while armed. Police say he admitted being one of the six young Charlestown men who held up a man in the gasoline filling station at Centre and Orchard streets, Jamaica Plain, last week. Five others have already been arrested.

STEEL REACHES AGREEMENT WITH WIFE

New York, Sept. 25.—John Steel, musical comedy tenor, and his wife, Sidonie Steel, have withdrawn their marital disputes from the courts, it was learned when attorneys for both announced that their clients were living apart "under a separation agreement amicably arrived at."

Neither the tenor, his wife, formerly an actress, nor the attorneys would discuss the matter further. It was said that Supreme Court Justice Proskauer, before whom both had filed separation actions, had helped in arranging the agreement.

The troubles of the Steels became public last May when Mrs. Steel, in a separation action, accused the tenor of cruelty and misconduct with women. Steel denied the charges and countered with the assertion that his wife had made him do the cooking, wash the family dishes and attend to all the housework in the home in Evanston, Ill., in 1921. They have a 3-year-old son.

LYNN TAX RATE CUT MAY SEND RENTS DOWN

Drops in rent are looked for by small property owners and tenants in Lynn as the result of the announcement of a reduction of $2 in the tax rate announced today by the Lynn assessors. The rate for the coming year will be $31.80.

While the tax rate is lower, the cost to some property owners will be more, however, because of increased valuation placed upon the property by the assessors. On the old property the valuation was placed at $8,000,000. The assessors, however, found an increase of $1,000,000 in new property. The assessors explained that they made an effort to equalize the valuation so that all property would be revalued at about 60 to 70 per cent. of market values. The revalue affects apartment houses, hotels and lodging houses, which are increased about 20 per cent. The smaller property owners are increased from 5 to 10 per cent.

The total valuation of the city is placed at $115,851,075. Last year the valuation was $106,851,056.60.

RUM IMPORTED ONLY 8 P.C. OF PRE-WAR

London, Sept. 25.—Spirits, commonly known as "hard likkers," are finding their way into the United States to the extent of about 8 per cent of the pre-prohibition supply, according to experts who have studied the recent liquor export figures from Great Britain and Ireland.

The liquor is arriving in the States by circuitous routes, chiefly through the "fringe" countries, Canada and Mexico, but also by way of Germany and the Bahamas.

For the first seven months of 1924 Canada received 160,000 more gallons of British liquor than during the corresponding months of 1923. Mexico also received greatly increased supplies, much of which, it is believed, was eventually paid for in American dollars.

NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST CHAIN OF RELIABLE FURNITURE STORES

ALL PACKED UP WITH NO PLACE TO GO

Dorchester Man Hires Flat, but Can't Get In; Household Goods Still on Vans

Refused admission to an apartment which he had rented, B. Reginald Costello, formerly of Corbett street, Dorchester, but now without a permanent residence, has brought suit to find a home for two truck loads of furniture.

It happened this way. Mr. Costello read an advertisement, stating that an apartment was to be let at No. 21 Ceylon street, Dorchester. He looked it over and liked it so well that he paid a deposit at once.

There was a family in the flat, but Landlord Hermann T. Herman announced that they were moving out within twenty-four hours.

LOADED FURNITURE.

A few days later Mr. Costello, returned to view his intended home once more and to pay the balance of the rent and found the family had not vacated his rooms.

On the alleged promise of Mr. Herman that the occupants of the flat were departing the following morning, Mr. Costello supervised the loading of all his belongings on two motor trucks and started for No. 21 Ceylon street.

The family was still there. Inquiry for Mr. Herman revealed the message that he had gone to Franklin Park for the day. So while the two trucks stood parked outside the house, Mr. Costello visited the Zoo, the golf links and the outlying areas of Franklin Park. Mr. Herman was not to be found.

APPEALS TO ATTORNEY.

Dorcester policemen refused to let the furniture trucks stand in the street all night long, so they were sent on their way with transportation costs still climbing.

Mr. Costello sought out Mr. Herman. He discovered that the erstwhile landlord had been relieved of his ownership of the house two week previous to their meeting by a sheriff who appeared with foreclosure papers.

Mr. Costello appealed to Attorney James A. Mulhall to secure the apartment for him or to get his money back. The suit is returnable next week.

FAMOUS PAINTINGS GIVEN JAPANESE RULER

Tokio, Sept. 25 (A.P.)—Reproductions of two famous paintings, familiar in millions of homes in the Occident were presented to the Prince Regent of Japan recently by the Federation of Christian Missions in Japan, most of whose members are Americans.

The pictures are Watts' "Sir Galahad" and Soord's "The Lost Sheep." Below the "Sir Galahad" is a plate bearing Tennyson's lines, "My strength is as the strength of ten because my heart is pure." The inscription at the bottom of the other picture is, "The Good Shepherd Giveth His Life for His Sheep."

THIRSTY CROWD SEES BIG CARGO OF ALE

Followed by a large and thirsty crowd, Sergeant Walter Barden of the Chelsea police, piloted a truck laden with 7,200 quart bottles of real Canadian ale to police headquarters from No. 208 Third street, where the liquor was seized. Apparently hoping that a bottle or two would be dropped in the excitement, the crowd hung around the police station until the last of the bottles had been stored away.

The ale was found in a shed in the rear of the house.

SOUTHEASTERN FRANCE RAVAGED BY STORM

Paris, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—A storm of cyclonic violence is ravaging southeastern France. The ancient city of Orange has been particularly hard hit. Thousands of travellers are stalled. Telegraphic communication with Marseilles has been cut by the uprooting of poles and the Paris postoffice yesterday chartered an airplane to deliver 2,000 belated telegrams.

The streets of the city of Nimes were converted into torrents.

Four Lives Saved in Fire by Barking of Pet Dog

Attleboro, Sept. 25.—The barking of Bob, a pet dog, awakened Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Perron of Seekonk avenue to the realization that their home was filled with smoke and a fire was raging in the cellar.

The Perrons, with their two children, escaped suffocation by going out windows clad only in their night clothes.

MEN FRUSTRATE ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

Leap From Auto, Seize Woman Poised for Leap Into Charles River

Mrs. Olga Yukumsky, aged 29, of No. 25 Banks street, Cambridge, beautiful and attired in the latest fashion creations, was prevented by two autoists, from ending her life in the Charles River.

The woman, suffering from general depression, according to her own story, had climbed over the rail on the Charles River wall along Memorial Drive. She paused for a moment before taking the leap.

At that moment, a car pulled up opposite the woman. There was a screeching of brakes, the car skidding half way around, as quickly was it stopped. Two men leaped from the machine and dragged the woman back to the walk. She struggled for several minutes until she was turned over to Traffic Officer Roberts.

The man who saved the woman were Frank A. Kelley of No. 64 Waverley street, Brighton and John F. Downey of No. 317 Hillside road, Watertown.

AUTOISTS HALTED AND WARNED IN ARLINGTON

Eight Inspectors from the office of Frank Goodwin, Registrar of Motor Vehicles, held up nearly 1,000 automobiles on Massachusetts avenue, near Harlow street, Arlington, last evening, for defective headlights, number plates obstructed and for absence of licenses. Several hundred were warned to have certain defects remedied at once.

LONDON HEARS OF AGREEMENT BY ULSTER

Belfast Denies Officially Any Understanding on the Boundary

London, Sept. 25.—That an agreement has been reached between Premier Craig of Ulster and President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State on the boundary question is the latest of several rumors called forth by the approaching meeting of the Imperial Parliament to deal with legislation settling up the boundary commission. The rumor is given publicity by the Daily Sketch, which attributes it to "quarters closely associated with the Government of Northern Ireland." The paper adds that when the agreement is officially disclosed, Mr. Cosgrave is likely to appeal the decision to a general election in the Free State.

Stanley Baldwin and other Conservatives formerly in the government, are meeting in London today to decide on their party's attitude toward the Boundary Commission Bill, which the political reporters predict will pass without serious opposition.

Belfast, Ireland, Sept. 25.—Unqualified contradiction of the report published in London that an agreement on the boundary question had been reached between the Ulster Premier and the head of the Free State Executive Council, was authorized today by the Deputy Premier of Northern Ireland, Hugh Pollock.

OPPOSE SEPARATE BOARD FOR CHIROPRACTORS

The appeals of chiropractors for recognition under the laws of Massachusetts and for the appointment of a board of their own to examine applicants for registration was opposed strongly by members of the medical profession at a hearing before the special committee on registration today.

The opposition of the medical doctors was based on the contention that there should be but one minimum standard for the qualification and registration of all persons practicing the art of healing in the State.

tramen are asked for or will be taken.

SIGNIFICANT POINT.

It may be significant that approximately four-fifths of the anti-Coolidge sentiment in the decidedly pro-

Coolidge Jewelers' Building has crystallized behind La Follette. If the rest of New England was as "safe," however, the Republican workers would have little to do.

This was the vote in the Jewelers' Building, 373 Washington street.

Coolidge	153
La Follette	37

Boston's stock and bond country probably is as free of La Follette votes as Wall Street. Much more surprising than the fact that no Progressive sentiment appeared in the neighborhood of No. 50 Congress street, was the discovery that there are few Davis votes there. These are the figures from the FINANCIAL DISTRICT.

Shift from Cox (1920) to Coolidge	2
From Harding (1920) to Davis	1

Back in 1896, they told a story about the young men from Harvard who took a straw vote on a Boston & Albany train from Springfield.

In the far corner of the smoking car, one of the Harvard lads met up with a track laborer in jumper and overalls and explained the situation to him while the railroader filled his Peter Dorney from a plug of hard tobacco.

"I can't handle the pencil, now," said the old man, "but you can put me down for William Jennings Bryan."

"Oh, but you cannot mean that," objected the collegian, "not really!"

"And why not?" countered the excellent Democrat.

"Why, you'd be the first passenger on this train to vote that way! We have been all through the train, and you're the first person to express a perference for Bryan."

"This train is it?" angrily inquired the trackman. "This train! And why the——don't ye wait for the gravel train?"

One of the Boston American's investigators couldn't wait to get to town but took a poll of his fellow passengers on a Boston & Albany smoking car from Wellesley. This was the result:

The next report covers a careful canvas of field clerks and enlisted men at the Army Base in South Boston. It also represents the ballots of several employes of the United States Shipping Board, together with those of a stewardess or two. The surprising thing here is not that the Commander-in-Chief should be well out in the lead, but that Senator La Follette should poll such a comparatively large number of votes. Mr. Davis did not do so well.

The next block of votes represents no single neighborhood, but is the work of a thoroughly reliable reporter, who began by interrogating business men along Summer street, and went from there to the Back Bay. In that part of town he polled a number of employes of the Methodist book concern as well as several women residents. About the best way to describe this particular sort of "beat" is to call it

A poll of South Boston on the opening day revealed, it may be remembered, thirty-three votes for La Follette, twenty-nine for John W. Davis and only three for Coolidge. The President does much better in the South Boston poll about to be reported, but this canvass was made at the big South Boston plant of the Walworth Company, the employes of which come from all parts of Greater City.

The next offering can present no more baffling angles to the reader than it has to the straw-ballot editor. Why, in this one locality, should so many men be found who voted for Cox of Ohio in 1920 but intend this year to switch to Coolidge? And why so many others whose shift will be from Harding to Davis? The report is that submitted by a careful and trustworthy reporter whose assignment was to the

Coolidge carries Coolidge Corner, as was to have been expected, but by the surprisingly small margin of only six votes over the combined strength of his rivals. Here, again, there are signs of a mystifying switch from Cox in 1920 to Coolidge in 1924. What does this particular switch mean? Can anybody suggest the reason for it? The figures are from

Somerville, even in that part of the town where Democrats may be met with, apparently intends to continue taking its politics "straight." Not much La Follette sentiment in and about Union Square, but what there was of it appeared to be 80 per cent. a break from the G. O. P.

'MA' FERGUSON CASE GOING TO HIGH COURT

Woman Suffrage Amendment to Get Test as Result of Texas Clash

Austin, Tex., Sept. 25 (Universal)—The question of equal rights for women in Texas, which right has been challenged in the courts by political opponents of Mrs. Miriam A. ("Ma") Ferguson, first woman nominee for Governor, assumed national significance today when it became known that the United States Supreme Court would be asked to define the scope of the nineteenth amendment with regard to women holding public offices.

Suit to debar Mrs. Ferguson from the State ticket is now being heard in the District Court here before Judge Calhoun. An array of counsel continued to argue the points of contention and cite a mass of court decisions bearing on the issue. Both sides intend carrying on to the court of last appeal.

Mrs. Ferguson charges the suit to disqualify her is the result of conspiracy by the Ku Klux Klan.

One point raised to debar Mrs. Ferguson is that the marriage vow whereby a woman takes oath to "obey" her husband disqualifies her for the office of Governor. Mrs. Ferguson's counsel says that if the Texas constitution does not include women as eligible to hold office, the Federal amendment compels it to recognize woman's official equality with man. It is on that point that the whole case is most likely to turn.

NEW YORK G.O.P. NAMES KLAN IN PLATFORM

Anti-Ku Klux Plank Is Adopted After Bitter Fight in Convention

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Denouncing the Ku Klux Klan by name, pledging the enforcement of all laws, but not specifically mentioning the prohibition statute, praising the Republican administration at Washington and promising enthusiastic support for the Coolidge-Dawes ticket, and charging the Democratic State administration under Governor Alfred E. Smith with inefficiency, imbecility, extravagance and misrepresentation of facts, the Republican State platform was adopted here today.

The Klan plank was adopted after a long bitter fight. The vote to include the plank in the platform was 25 to 24. Former Governor Horace White of Syracuse and Representative Thaddeus C. Sweet of Oswego led the fight against the plank. Representative Ogden L. Mills of New York, chairman of the committee, and Speaker H. Edmund Mashold of Watertown, fought for the plank.

The Klan plank says:

"The constitutional guarantee of civil, political and religious liberty to every citizen is the very foundation of our national policy and our national ideals. This guarantee cannot be denied or impaired without being false to American tradition, to American ideals and to the very soul and spirit of the nation.

"We condemn and oppose any organization whether it be called Ku Klux Klan or by any other name, that seeks directly or indirectly to weaken this fundamental American doctrine either in letter or spirit. Moreover, we condemn any candidate or party that endeavors to make political capital out of such an issue, and, while posing as its champion, betrays the cause of liberty by a direct appeal to racial and religious groups."

LANDSLIDE KILLS 15 IN SWISS VILLAGE

Milan, Sept. 25 (I.N.S.).—Fifteen persons were killed and twenty houses destroyed when a landslide swept down upon the Swiss village of Como today.

The landslide followed a hurricane which caused heavy damage at Locarno.

BANDITS USE MACHINE GUNS; GIVE RECEIPTS

Warsaw, Sept. 25.—Forty armed bandits with several machine guns, held up a train between Brest and Luniniec, Eastern Poland. They cowed the passengers after killing one and wounding two, then blew up a bridge behind the train and started the crewless engine toward Luninlec, where it stopped, out of steam.

The gang looted the baggage and robbed all the passengers, including M. Downarowicz, chief executive of the Brest district, giving them "receipts" in the name of the Revolutionary Committee of Ukrainians and White Russians.

FLAG AT HIGH SCHOOL IS DESECRATED

North Andover Emblem Cut and Raised Again, Upside Down

North Andover, Sept. 25 (I.N.S.).—North Andover is up in arms today over the desecration of the flag outside the Johnson High School of $100,000 loan.

When residents awoke they discovered that during the night the flag had been lowered, several holes cut in it, and raised again upside down.

Local police have asked Federal authorities to aid them in fixing responsibility.

Babies' Names to Be Stamped on Bodies

Baltimore, Sept. 25.—There will be no cases of mistaken identity among the children born in the maternity ward of Johns Hopkins Hospital if the new system for marking babies is a success.

At present the babies wear necklaces with their names spelled out in the beads. Under the new plan the names of the babies will be marked on their backs with ink which will wear for about three weeks.

ARMY FUNERAL FOR SLAIN OFFICER

Patrolman Albert Motroni Is Buried in Holy Cross; Body Is Borne on Gun Caisson

Patrolman Albert Motroni, slain in East Boston in the performance of his duty, was buried with a military funeral today.

The body was borne on a gun caisson to Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden, escorted by details from the regular army, two posts of the American Legion, and the Boston Police Department.

Solemn high mass of requiem was sung at St. Lazarus' Church, Orient Heights, among those present being Police Commissioner Wilson, Superintendent Crowley and Captain Hickey of Division 7.

Rev. Fr. Gibelli of Sacred Heart Italian Church, North End, was celebrant; Rev. Fr. Cardinalle, superintendent of the Franciscan Sisters Home, Orient Heights, deacon, and Rev. Fr. Despouy, pastor of the Portuguese Church, East Boston, subdeacon. Miss Agnes Casale presided at the organ.

The pallbearers, all brother officers of the murdered man, were Wilfred Boudreau, Joseph Maraghy, Francis M. Burke, Albert Magaletta, William L. Daniels and Bartholomew Murphy. The police detail was in charge of Captain Louis E. Lutz, department drill master.

The funeral of Michael Dobroval, who drove himself, a woman and her three children to death in Fort Point channel, was held from the Russian Orthodox Catholic Church, Dearborn street, Roxbury. The Rev. Fr. Jacob E. Gregoriess officiated. Joseph A. Conry, former Russian Consul and for the past ten years Dobroval's employer, was present with friends. Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery, Brighton.

Mrs. Helen Mara and her children, Jennie, Elizabeth and George, the other victims with Dobroval, were buried from the Russian Polish Church, Chelsea. One service was held for all four, several Russian and Polish societies attending in a body and following the remains to Holy Cross Cemetery.

4 ALARMS FOR TWO BLAZES IN LOWELL

Lowell, Sept. 25.—Four fire alarms for two fires in Flood's Alley in the heart of Lowell's Greek settlement, threw the district into an uproar today and forced three families from their homes.

Excited residents pulled in separate boxes when a barn in the rear of No. 15 Flood's alley, blazed.

As a result of the three alarms all apparatus in Lowell responded, some to one box, others to the second and still others to the third.

In the confusion the location of the fire became lost for some time and the blaze gained considerable headway. The barn burned to the ground within half an hour and the apparatus returned to their stations.

They were back only a few minutes when one of the three alarm boxes sounded again, calling the district apparatus.

This time a three-tenement block adjoining the barn was blazing. Sparks from the burning barn had lodged in the roof and had crept unnoticed down into one of the kitchens.

The three families occupying the block fled precipitately to the street, while the firemen were extinguishing the blaze.

Then the colony settled back into normalcy.

TEXTILE STRIKE RESTS WITH M'MAHON

Manchester, N. H., Sept. 25.—Plans for a New England wide textile strike received additional impetus today, when the local council of the United Textile Workers notified International President Thomas F. McMahon they were in accordance with him.

McMahon sought authorization to call a strike, from the Manchester Textile Council, similar to that which he received last Sunday from the Pawtucket Council.

It was given by the local body in the form of a resolution adopted at the regular meeting. This resolution stated that Manchester Textile Council "is not in accord with the reduction in wages given by the Amoskeag Company," and provided that the entire matter be left in the hands of the International President. The resolution was presented by Vice President Edgar D. Mank of the local council.

It now lies in the discretion of President McMahon to call strikes whenever he feels the time is ripe, provided he receives the same authorization from other councils.

SENATE PROBERS NOT READY TO HEAR MEANS

Washington, Sept. 25 (I.N.S.).—Any chance of the Wheeler-Brookhart Senate Committee reassembling at this time to resume its investigation into the Department of Justice apparently went a-glimmering today.

Senators Ashurst and Moses, the only members of the committee in the capital, both announced they had no intention of reconvening the committee.

If the committee be called to hear about Gaston B. Means' quasi-repudiation of his testimony concerning the Daugherty administration of the department it will be at the direction of Senator Brookhart, according to Ashurst.

ARGENTINE AVIATOR TO HOP TO SHANGHAI

Syracuse, Sept. 25.—Governor Smith will appear before the Democratic State convention after his nomination tomorrow and deliver an address of acceptance which is being prepared today.

SAYS SOUTH AFRICA MUST EMPLOY MORE WHITES

Pretoria, Union of South Africa, Sept. 25.—The mines of South Africa must do more than they have been doing in the way of employing white laborers and the government must do its duty in preserving white civilization in South Africa, Tielman Roos, Minister of Justice, declared today before the National Congress in session here.

'COLLEGE GIRLS MAKE THE BEST OF WIVES'

Business Girls Also Praised by Experts, Who Declare That Flapperism Soon Passes

New York, Sept. 25 (I N S.)—College girls and business girls make the best of wives."

"Only two per cent. of college women get divorces after marriage. They will work and help their husbands if necessary.

The business girl cherishes her husband carefully, and knows how to handle him. She makes the home cozy because she knows what it is to come home from work.

"And neither type drinks gin, dances jazz nor gets half as much as they are said to."

So declared Dr. Ira Peters, head of the Vocational Research Bureau of Goucher College and Miss Elizabeth Sears, president of the New York League of Business and Professional Women today.

"The average college girl married five years after graduation," Dr. Peters said, "while the average twenty-seven years. There are exceptions for intellectual women as well as for physical, of course."

Mrs. Sears said the business girl of today was more than the average bride twenty, eight to thirty years.

Dr. Peters said the American flapper was a high school type who evolved into a "modern girl" after her junior year in college.

"After their freshman and sophomore years, the college girl begins to think of her future and puts aside flapperism," said Dr. Peters.

Cockiest of All Dogdom to Be on 'Parade' at Sealyham Show

By BETTY ALDEN

ONE of the cockiest members of all dogdom is the Sealyham terrier.

Despite the small size of these canines, they are extremely dignified. Quite haughty, in fact, and never do they deign to recognize anyone unless they've been properly introduced and all that sort of thing.

A week from Saturday there will be a splendid showing of these dogs at the specialty exhibition being held at the Moorland Golf Club under the auspices of the American Sealyham Terrier Club.

With the never failing interest that all the North Shore folk manifest in every sporting event, a goodly attendance is assured.

Bayard Warren whose kennels at "Barberry Hill," Pride's Crossing, boast some of the finest Sealyhams in the country, is on the show's bench committee. Also on the committee are Dudley P. Rogers and Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., who is more keenly interested in whippets than the pert-nosed little terriers.

William Prescott Wolcott of Readville is judging the show, at which many special prizes will be offered by the club besides fifteen cash awards.

MISS BARBARA STONE

Of especial interest to the debutantes of 1924-25 was the announcement of the engagement of one of their sister-bonds, Miss Barbara Stone, to Richard Hubbard of Hartford. Miss Stone is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. Galen L. Stone of Brookline and Marion.

A MOST impressive ceremony was the dedication of the carillon of Mrs. Ellen Bancroft in memory of her mother, Mrs. Jessie M. Barron.

The bells were rung by members are in St. Stephen's Church at Cohasset where the Bancrofts have their Summer home.

Ramsay Lefevre and organist and assistant to Jef Denyn at St. Bonifacius Church in Malines, the church of Cardinal Mercier, played the bells, whose tones are of exceptional beauty. Bishop Lawrence made the prayer of dedication.

The colorful procession, which slowly wound its way to the church from the Cohasset Town Hall presented a most unusual event. And as the black and white-robed choristers made their way to the house of worship, "Onward Christian Soldiers" was pealed forth on the air.

A crucifer, Hugh Bancroft, Jr., a grandson of Mrs. Barron, led the procession. Behind him followed five boys of high ecclesiastical rank, carrying the flags of five nations. Then came the Rev. Daniel Magruder of St. John the Evangelists, Hingham, the master of ceremonies.

The vested choir, seven boys and seven girls, followed. Next group including three other grandchildren of Mrs. Barron—the Misses Jessie and Jane Bancroft and Miss Muriel Endicott. Then came a second crucifer, followed by a dozen prominent clergymen.

Following the dedication, a luncheon was held at The Inches as the Bancroft place is known, and among the prominent guests attending the function were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Adams Cram, Mr. and Mrs. Alanson Bigelow, Mr. and Mrs. Philip S. Dalton, Mr. and Mrs. Converse Pitch, Mr. and Mrs. Amy Bancroft, Dr. and Mrs. George C. Badger, Mrs. Ezra R. Thayer and Miss Edith Thayer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Francis Adams, Mrs. David Loring and Mrs. William H. Schofield.

MARION DAVIES' NEW FILM TRUE TO HISTORY

Star Devoted Months to Research Work Before 'Yolanda' Was Made

Marion Davies' next big special feature for the Cosmopolitan Corporation, "Yolanda," will be presented at Loew's State Theatre next Monday. It is a picture which is said to mark the pinnacle of photoplay art and it is a magnificent visualization of Charles Major's famous story of the same name.

In preparation for the production Miss Davies devoted several months of research in order to acquaint herself with the details of the character which she portrays.

Before beginning actual work on the picture the Cosmopolitan star buried herself in the study of prints in the library and in the Metropolitan Museum in order that the costumes she wears in the photoplay might be absolutely authentic. Before starting work on the picture Miss Davies made a trip to Europe, where she continued her research.

Everything worn by Miss Davies from the flare of a headdress to the buckle of a shoe has been reproduced in exact detail. Special frames had to be built for many of her gowns in order to convey the necessary fulness of the skirts.

The lace used in embroidering some of these gowns was crocheted in France and copied from exhibitions in the museum of Cluny and the Louvre.

Big Sunflower Takes Root in Tree Fork at Fitchburg

Fitchburg, Sept. 25.—Residents of Pleasant street are marveling at an odd freak of nature. In a fork of a maple tree, about 30 feet from the ground, a large sunflower is growing. Doubtless the erosion of the bark of the tree caused a layer of dirt to accumulate in the fork. It is believed that the sunflower seed was picked up during the tornado last July and planted in the fork of the tree.

Walkers Demand Safety

TWO BANGUP GRIDIRON BATTLES ON TAP FOR SCHOOL TEAMS

B. C. HIGH IS GIVEN BIG TEST

By FRED C. LANE

Medford eleven will come to Braves field and the stars of the Malden high when both teams renew their rivalry on Saturday afternoon. The struggle will be the first football test for both teams and will give the followers of each team a line on the strength of their opponents. Coach Mahon of Medford and Coach Hoban of Malden are both working hard to get their teams in shape for the opening game.

School scouts have been busy for the last few days, as both teams have been practicing behind closed doors. Reports from the scouts have been received by the coaches and they will be able to map out their plans of attack and defense.

Since the Medford team has been out in front in the western division of the Suburban League, and Malden has been the leader in the eastern division, the game will decide the championship of the league. Medford has been defeated but once in the last two years, while Malden has been defeated but twice in the same period.

Medford is not as strong as was the team that walked off with the Suburban League championship last year. Bill Lears, the star fullback, is lost to the Medford eleven, while Capt. Mike Mahon, flashy halfback, is out of the game with a broken leg. Medford will miss the play of both these players, but Coach Mahon has several players who are capable of filling their positions.

Malden has a veteran team and is counted strong enough to win the championship of the Suburban League. Coach Hoban has Murphy, Mayo and Gold on hand, and these players can be counted on to make the team take the field. Malden will also have the services of Dan Bent, Joe Mayo and Bill Dunn in the backfield.

SQUAD OF VETERAN STARS

Five veterans, members of last year's championship team, will be in the Medford lineup when the whistle blows to start the game. Capt. Mike Mahon, Bill Lears, Joe Mayo, Bill Dunn, Jack Gold and Bill Murphy, all veterans of last year's team, will be in the Medford lineup when the whistle blows to start the game. Coach Mahon has several players who are capable of filling their positions.

Malden has a veteran team and is counted strong enough to win the championship of the Suburban League. Coach Hoban has Murphy, Mayo and Gold on hand, and these players can be counted on to make the team take the field. Malden will also have the services of Dan Bent, Joe Mayo and Bill Dunn in the backfield.

B. C. HIGH BOYS IMPROVED

The Medford eleven has been showing much improvement in practice this week, and Coach Mahon is pleased with the showing made by his players. Joe Mayo, the plucky quarterback of the Malden high team, is also showing much improvement and the boys are confident that they will win.

Coach Mahon has been working his men hard this week, and the team is in good condition for the game. With the game in progress, Malden is going to have a hard time keeping the visitors' goal line from being crossed.

ARMY TO TRAIN BY SEARCHLIGHT

Cadets of the football squad of the United States Military Academy at West Point are getting used to playing football by the light of searchlights, and the cadets will be ready for the game with Colgate on October 4. Coach Gilmour has announced that the cadets will be ready for the game with Colgate on October 4. The game will be played at the Polo Grounds in New York.

Colonel M. E. Stewart, cadet commandant, announced yesterday that the first game has been scheduled and the cadets will play the University of St. Louis on Saturday, October 4. The Cadet will be at West Point.

When the regular training of the team starts a powerful searchlight will be used for several hours each night, thus eliminating the need of daylight practice and be moved according to the position of the players.

STONE HAS BETTER OF STRIBLING BOUT

New York, Sept. 25.—Ad Stone, the Fighting Marine, was the winner of a unanimous decision over Young Stribling in a ten-round bout in the Newark Armory.

The bout lasted in fact every round, terms up to the final round with the lead shifting from one to the other.

The last round which was the fifth round of the bout, Stone, using his natural brawn and speed, carried off the verdict in the opinion of most of the ringside fans. Stribling went down and came up without a count in the final minute.

"Ifs" in the Pennant Races

THE Giants virtually clinched the National League pennant by their victory yesterday. If they should win only two of their remaining four games, they cannot possibly lose the flag, even if Brooklyn should win their last two games and the Pittsburgh team should take all of their six games, for then the standing would be:

New York	93	61	.604
Brooklyn	93	61	.604
Pittsburgh	92	61	.601

Pittsburgh is practically eliminated, being three and a half games behind the Giants. These teams play each other for the last time today. In order for Brooklyn to win the pennant, it must win its last two games, while the Giants and the Pittsburgh team should take all of their six games. The Pirates cannot figure even by taking all of their last six games. In this case the standing would be:

Brooklyn	93	61	.604
Pittsburgh	92	61	.601
New York	92	62	.597

For the Pirates to win the flag they must annex all of their six games, while the Giants are losing three out of four and the Dodgers are breaking even on their last two, as follows:

Pittsburgh	92	61	.601
Brooklyn	92	62	.597
New York	92	62	.597

The Yankees and Washington Senators each have four more games to play, and present indications favor the team from Washington. For the Yankees to land their fourth consecutive pennant they must take all four games while the Senators lost three of their games. Then the standing would be:

Yankees	92	62	.597
Senators	91	63	.591

If the Senators win two of the four games, the worst they can get is a tie at 92—62—.597, even should the Yankees win all of their games.

Or watch me swim that river!

MEDBURY SAYS---

By John P. Medbury.

A NEW YORK man has written a song called "Hard Hearted Anna." It's about a southern belle who so cold blooded that a mosquito can't even light on her without getting frost.

SHE'S so mean that when her husband died she bought a dozen farm clocks and put them on his grave.

DURING the Johnstown flood she and her sister carried two hundred buckets of water there and cured them in the city streets.

SHE'S the kind of a girl who gives rocking chairs to seasick people.

NOT only that, but she'd take a glass eye away from a man and put it under a sitting hen.

SHE used to amuse chess on her uncle's wooden leg so that the rats would gnaw it away during the night.

HER favorite pastime was throwing banana peels in front of crossyed men on crutches.

HER heart was so hard that every time it beat it cracked her chest.

HER folks finally had to have her arrested for sticking pins in her grandfather.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. F. X. Mahoney
Boston Health Commissioner

THE cold bath, by which is meant a tub bath from 70 to 80 degrees F., is often spoken of as the "tonic bath."

Many persons are addicted to the cold bath habit even to the extent of a cold plunge on Winter days, and others advocate it to such a degree that they make a fetish of it and insist that it should be taken at certain times of the day.

The cold bath is not a cleansing bath. It does not cleanse the skin, but rather narcotizes, for most superficial nerves upon the surface, and it does not dissolve and, therefore, does not remove the excess oily secretions or the accumulated dirt on the skin. As a cleansing bath, therefore, the cold bath may be practically ignored.

The cold bath, because of its shock, because of its effect upon certain elements in the blood and tissues, and because it is at all times a very powerful agent, should be indulged in with great caution and with a full understanding that in many bodily states the cold bath should never be taken.

In all diseased conditions, even when mild, the cold bath should be taken only under the advice of a physician.

CROSS WORD PUZZLE "TIP"

By Sol Vitt

SOLVERS, I'll bet you did not know there were so many words consisting of three letters only in the English language as appears in Jack H. Gadd's Cross Word Puzzle that appeared in yesterday's American. How are you making out with it?

Here's a tip that may give you a key to the entire puzzle:

No. 9 "Wooden vessel with two bulges" is "tub."

No. 10 "Article (French feminine)" is "Une."

Therefore, in the puzzle these words align as follows:

In tomorrow's American there will be a new and different Cross Word Puzzle that I can promise will be worthy of your attention.

FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

The cost of living in the United States is a little lower than it was when 1924 opened.

Our farmer folks have had all the best of the price changes this year. Prices have advanced for the products they sell and prices of the things they buy have declined. This is as it should be, for the prosperity of the whole country was being hurt by the hard times experienced by our agricultural population.

A study of the comprehensive figures issued by the United States Department of Labor shows that, compared with the figures at the opening of the year, farm products command better prices, and that food as a whole is up. Clothing is substantially cheaper, building materials have fallen sharply, house furnishings are appreciably lower, metals and metal products have tumbled and fuel is well below the prices ruling early this year.

* * *

It now costs exactly half as much again to live as it did in 1913, the government's records reveal.

* * *

Clothing has almost doubled in price, having risen more than any other necessary of life. House furnishings rank second in point of advance, followed closely by fuel and building materials. Metals and chemicals and drugs have advanced least, being only 30 per cent above 1913.

* * *

Our farmers are doing better than that. Farm products now stand 45 per cent. above the 1913 average and food 49 per cent. up.

This means that the farmer's dollar is now worth within a shade of the dollars of the rest of us.

This evening-up process, this coming of the gap between the price of farm products and manufactured goods, is still going on. The American Woolen Company has just announced a 15 per cent. cut in certain important worsted products. The drop in raw cotton should mean lower prices for cotton goods. Metals are sagging still further.

* * *

Professor Irving Fisher recorded quite a drop in the general prices level last week, although this was partly accounted for by downward fluctuations in some agricultural products.

* * *

What has become of the sensational "inflation" which many alarmists so loudly predicted would be raging by now? Those reckless who bury themselves in statistics covering past history and who obtain not mob-bruisers with men of affairs and learn at first hand how those men have profited by the experiences in the last few years, are elated with smug confidence that the abnormal increase in America's stock of gold could not fail to send prices soaring skywards.

* * *

Nothing of the kind has happened and very little of that kind is the danger of happening. Our bankers are too sensible to foster wild inflation which, they have learned, to their cost, can create disaster. Most of our business leaders also are wiser than they used to be, and now prefer sound, solid progressive conditions to whoopings-up a reckless boom.

* * *

The fact is that the United States cannot afford to indulge in inflation.

France is taking drastic measures to keep down the cost of living there.

The German government is, at this moment, taking vigorous steps to cut costs of production so as to help German business interests to compete successfully in foreign markets. Coal prices have been reduced, the sales tax has been lowered from 2% to 1½ per cent., railroad rates have been cut 10 per cent., telegraph and telephone rates are to be reduced, stamp duties on new shares is being reduced, and business interests are being furnished with money on distinctly easier terms than formerly.

In Britain, the cost of living was lowered last month.

* * *

America, however, will be able to hold its own against the rest of the world IF IT DESERVES TO. But all our boasted wealth will not insure us against bad times and widespread unemployment if we set on the assumption that there is no need for us to work hard or to bestir ourselves to attain increased efficiency.

DURANT ISSUE AT A RECORD HIGH PRICE

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor

United States Cast Iron Pipe, in which W. C. Durant, former Boston

automobile magnate, is reported to have a paper profit of record-breaking size—$12,500,000, has just been sold at a new high record price.

Attainment of the ten figure has no doubt been helped by the plight of trapped short sellers, but Pipe's earnings are running well in excess of last year, when net totalled $3,471,267 after taxes, depreciation and interest, equal after preferred dividends to $3.80 a share on 720,000 common shares. Net in 1922 equalled $1.51 a common share.

The company has benefited from use of the De Lavaud method of centrifugal pipe casting, on which it controls patents in the United States. A half year ago the output could be made than by the old sand cast method.

Contrary to the popular impression, no direct request for the loan expected shortly to be forthcoming has been made by Germany, so the loan cannot be said actually to be under negotiation.

Private bankers are beginning to talk about unnecessary delay in the flotation of the German loan, but those in closest touch with the situation declare that deferment of the operation cannot well be avoided because of the extent of the detail work that must be completed before the bonds can be placed before the public.

It was recalled that the Austrian and Hungarian loans were several months under arrangement, whereas the London conference which really marked the first effective agreement to carry out the Dawes plan occurred only a few weeks ago.

As soon as the preliminaries are settled, however, that request should be made and terms and other features of the flotation will be worked in jig time. In banking deals of this kind, the negotiations are frequently brief and to the point. It is the preliminary skirmishing that drags out the proceedings.

That the promise of substantially improved monthly earnings statements on the part of the railroads contained in recent trade publications is to be amply fulfilled is indicated in the first group of August reports, filed this week.

Without exception these appear, on the whole, to be no larger, if as large, net income gives every indication of exceeding that of August, 1923, as well as the previous month this year. Conspicuous, both because of its size and importance as barometer of rail earnings, is that because it is the first of the big systems to report, is the statement of Southern Pacific, issued yesterday, which shows that system has built up a bigger net income for the year 1924, to date, than in the corresponding eight months of 1923, a record year in the railroad business.

Early forecasts by railroad men that traffic for the year 1924 would fall some 10 per cent. behind last year appeared a few weeks ago to be over-optimistic, but if business continues at the level indicated by the upward turn in August, this estimate should come very close to the facts.

ONTARIO & WESTERN IS IN IMPROVED POSITION

The report of the New York, Ontario & Western for August, with a $500,980 surplus after charges, lends encouragement to the possibilities of a dividend before the close of the year. None has been paid since the $2 disbursed on October 17, 1921.

The August surplus after charges brought the total for the eight months to $558,710. That is equivalent to 96 cents a share on $58,113,982 of outstanding common stock, and would compare with a $254,710 net plus after charges in the corresponding period of 1923, equal to 44 cents a share.

The declaration of a $1 dividend by New York, Ontario & Western would be welcomed by the New Haven, as the owner of 291,600 common shares, or a trifle more than 50 per cent. of the outstanding stock.

RAILROAD TRAFFIC AT NEW HIGH FOR YEAR

More freight traffic was moved in the week ended September 13 than during any other week of the current year, according to the American Railway Association. In that period 1,001,424 cars, gain of 140,445 cars, or 15.2 per cent., over the week before and 1,000 cars under August 30's record movement 861 cars, or 0.08 per cent., under the corresponding week of last year and 124,203 cars, or 13.2 per cent. under the same 1922 week. Number of cars loaded in the week of September 13 was within 3.2 per cent. or 35,850 cars, of the highest week on record—that of September 27, 1923, when 1,037,274 cars were loaded.

PILGRIM MILLS PLANS FOR STOCK DIVIDEND

Pilgrim Mills of Fall River has voted to increase capital stock from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000. The increase to be given stockholders as a stock dividend on the basis of five new shares for every seven shares now held. Special meeting to ratify this proposal will be held October 7.

Pilgrim Mills has run night and day for over three years and has not had a single hour or spindle stop during that period.

Canada Trade Up

Canada's exports 12 months ended August 31 last were inflated at $1,060,193,482 and imports $833,645,912. Exports increased $58,917,993 over previous year and imports decreased $58,318,223.

PROFIT-TAKING CHECKS RISE IN NEW YORK

In trading on the New York Stock Exchange, profit-taking in the standard industrials and a number of specialties checked the general advance in the second hour. Trading turned dull on the decline.

Heavy buying of the Maxwell Motor issues, the A stock moving up more than two points, was without effect on the rest of the motors.

Bullish demonstrations continued in public utilities, Brooklyn Union Gas, American Water Works common, United Railways Investment common and preferred and International Telephone being among the many issues in that group to sell a point or more above yesterday's final prices.

Canden Oil sagged a point despite official denials of new financing and the other petroleum issues made little response to the American Petroleum Institute's weekly report of a reduction in crude oil production.

Talking issues lost one to two points on realizing sales. Call money again renewed at 2 per cent.

New high records were established by a number of recent favorites, including American Water Works, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Studebaker and Locomotive.

The upward movement of bond prices continued uninterrupted. London dispatches announcing that definite negotiations between German representatives and American and English bankers over the proposed international loan to Germany are progressing favorably gave a firm tone to foreign obligations. Mexican issues extended their gain despite official denial by the Mexican treasury that the government was negotiating a loan.

Boston & Maine issues, some up a point or more, were again features of trading on the Boston Stock Exchange.

STOCK DIVIDEND FOR BIRD & SON HOLDERS

Bird & Son, Inc., of East Walpole, has increased capital stock by $1,000,000, consisting of 10,000 additional shares of first preferred stock of $100 par value, to pay a stock dividend to common stockholders in ratio of one new share for every 20 shares of no-par common stock.

After the change the capitalization will be: 47,927 prior preference shares and 50,000 first preferred shares ($100 par) and 200,000 no-par common shares.

EXTRA DIVIDEND PAID ON NEW JERSEY LINE

New Jersey Zinc Company has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent., payable November 10 to stock of record October 31. An extra dividend of 2 per cent. was also declared payable October 10 to stock of record September 30.

STOCKHOLDERS TAKE MACK TRUCKS STOCK

Probably the best explanation for the recovery in Mack Trucks shares is the declaration that the receipt of offering of 56,422 additional shares at $80 a share was entirely subscribed by stockholders, thus leaving the underwriting syndicate with none of the stock on its hands. Following the offering a few weeks ago, the stock had suffered severe setbacks, but is now within striking distance of its former high. Owing to the fact that payments run as far ahead as January 15, 1925, the stock itself will not be issued until next year.

World Must Look to America for Its Rye

Of all the grains rye is the one that has been most consistent in advancing and most stubborn in resisting bear attack this season.

This is explained by one of the big grain houses of Chicago thus wise:

So far as officially reported the world's rye crop is some 10 per cent. short of last year's. This does not include Russia, where crop failure forecasts have been, so that the real situation for world supply is sensational.

Our own crop is moderate—only 50,000,000 bushels.

In 1921-22, when European supply was particularly short, we had a crop of 108,000,000 bushels and were able to export 51,000,000 bushels. Our present export sales are quite heavy scale, absorbing everything available and stocks are practically down to the last notch. Another crop will not permit of more than an average export this year, but the European situation and our current export demand indicate a demand upon us which we shall hardly be able to meet regardless of price.

DRUG AND CHEMICAL DEMAND IS IMPROVED

A steady improvement in the demand for chemicals has been reported by a large number of recent inquiries, including American Water Works, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Studebaker and Locomotive.

The upward movement of bond prices continued uninterrupted. London dispatches announcing that definite negotiations between German representatives and American and English bankers over the proposed international loan to Germany are progressing favorably gave a firm tone to foreign obligations. MAGNETIC POLE STUDIED BY M'MILLAN

Winthrop Member of the Expedition Makes Valuable Scientific Observations

Wiscasset, Me., Sept. 25 (A.P.)—Observations made in the vicinity of the magnetic North Pole by Richard H. Goddard of Winthrop, Mass., who was a member of the MacMillan Arctic expedition, may reveal some of the underlying causes for the mysterious currents that keep the compass needle pointed north, it was announced here today.

While there is still some doubt as to their exact value, pending a more thorough analysis, Dr. J. A. Fleming, assistant director of the department of terrestrial magnetism, Carnegie Institute, predicts today that eventually such investigations would contribute to the work of correcting the charts used by mariners.

During eight months it is reported that the expedition was frozen in the ice at Refuge Harbor, North Greenland, Dr. Fleming explained, a continuous record of the movements of a compass needle was made on sheets of sensitized photographic paper.

The instrument used for making the observations was set up at a specially constructed hut about three hundred miles from the pole, Mr. Bowdoin, and between 600 and 690 miles North of the Magnetic Pole.

The apparatus operated automatically, except for intervals of ten minutes every twenty-four hours, when the recording paper was replenished.

In such close proximity to the source of the mysterious magnetic currents, which keep navigators the world over on their courses, the slightest disturbance, whether it is caused by the variation of the current itself or an electrical storm, has a pronounced effect upon the fluctuations of the needle, Dr. Fleming said.

Changes that make a difference of only one degree at the equator, there shows a distinct variation on off between ten and twenty degrees, he added.

In order to obtain a wide range of effect of the currents, Goddard started that other points of observation had been used by him, including Sydney, N. S.; Cape Sabine, Ellesmere Land, and four in Labrador.

The observatory at Winter quarters was believed both by Dr. Fleming and Goddard to be the most northerly ever established. Magnetic disturbances are particularly present at intervals of eleven years, Dr. Fleming declared, and a complete magnetic survey of the earth's magnetism required a total period of thirty years' research.

CONCENTRATES ON CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

Intensive educational work to offset the "campaign of fraud and misrepresentation" being waged by the opponents of the ratification by Massachusetts of the child labor amendment to the Federal constitution is in full swing among the labor unions of the State.

The amendment is on the ballot to be so voted at the November election.

Under the direction of the Massachusetts branch of the American Federation of Labor, committees have been organized and a speakers' bureau established "to bring about a successful conclusion of labor's fight in behalf of the children."

The child labor amendment is described in resolutions passed by the labor organization as a simple one, and if adopted will permit Congress to enact legislation protecting the childhood of the nation from the grasp of industrial greed, offering them in its stead a place in God's sunshine, for the country's future welfare as well as for their own.

Co-operating with the State committee is the parent organization in Washington, Michael J. O'Donnell of the teamsters' union is in direct charge of the campaign.

QUIET REIGNS ON SHANGHAI FRONT

Shanghai, China, Sept. 25 (A.P.)—The Kiangsu offensive against the Chekiang line defending Shanghai, which the Lungwha headquarters of the defending army predicted, has not developed yet.

It is delayed, according to reports, to enable the Kiangsu troops to bring up artillery, mounted on pontoons, through the network of waterways by which the country west of here is intersected.

These pontoons, it is reported, are constructed of metal casks and similar retainers, which the Kiangsu army has been buying in large quantities.

An observer returning from the Kiangsu front by steamer from Chinkiang, near Nanking, reported that the Kiangsu casualties greatly exceeded those of Chekiang. He estimated that there are 1,200 wounded at Soochow, 2,000 at Changchow, Wush and Chinkiang and 1,000 at Nanking, all especially wounded. As he heard, were left unattended on the battlefields, only those with less serious wounds being transported to the hospitals.

The Red Cross emblem is being misused everywhere along the railway, the Red Cross authorities charging at $50 and Red Cross flags for use of travelers at $25.

CANNED FOOD EXPORTS INCREASED BY 27 P. C.

Washington, Sept. 25.—An increase of 27 per cent. in the exportation of canned foods for the first eight months of the current year over the corresponding period a year ago was reported today by the Department of Commerce. The figures were said to indicate not only a full recovery from the 1923 slump in exports, but a considerable increase over the 1922 total of 545,000,000 pounds.

GIRL KILLED BY AUTO, YOUTH IS ARRESTED

Lowell, Sept. 25.—Adelard Jodoin, sixteen years old, was arrested, charged with manslaughter in causing the death of Dorothy Gilman, 3 years old, of East Tyngsb. It is alleged that the girl was struck by Jodoin's automobile.

The child died at St. John's Hospital. Jodoin is a resident of Woonsocket, R. I.

ANGLO-GERMAN TRADE PARLEY MERELY PUT OVER

Berlin, Sept. 25 (A.P.)—The German Foreign Office issued a statement today explaining that the Anglo-German negotiations to formulate a commerce treaty had not broken down, as reported, but only had been postponed. They will be resumed shortly, the statement adds, with every prospect of a satisfactory conclusion.

Florida Land and Things

Some Strange, All Short

Florida business men intend to stop all land frauds as nearly as possible. In Miami, Jacksonville, Tampa, and elsewhere, you will find the Chamber of Commerce and real estate boards glad to give you all information as to the soundness of any Florida real estate proposition offered to you.

The idea is good, but it is also well to remember the experience of the famous clever actress, Lotta Crabtree, of Boston. When the elevated railroad was built in New York she was persuaded to buy Harlem "lots" in One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street. She paid $8,000 for several of them. Then a lawsuit was brought and the sellers were compelled to refund the money on the ground of fraud, and overstatement. If Lotta had the lots now they would be worth about three million dollars.

It's hard to make a bad investment, if you select the right place. But use your brains. That's what they're made for.

The Reverend Lawrence M. Hight, once racehorse owner and jockey, confesses that he poisoned his wife and the husband of another woman "in order to end their pain." Arsenic that he administered made it easy for the police to prove that somebody had done the poisoning.

What will the jury say in this case? Will it decide to be as kind to the Reverend Mr. Hight as he was to his victims and end his pain?

After the Napoleonic wars, when England had been pouring out her money without limit and a few of her men to help European countries beat the great Corsican, conditions in England were bad. Then, as it seemed, miraculously came the high development of steam power and steam roads. The producing value of every English workman was multiplied at once by a hundred, and prosperity boomed.

Now, following this great war, England is again in the doldrums and needs something else. She proposes to find it by replacing steam with electricity.

The British purpose, as a government enterprise, to develop a great "super-power system" and to begin with, large sums have been appropriated to experiment with the possibility of harnessing the tides.

The Severn River, which has the third highest tide in the world, could alone develop enough power to supply electric light and power to LONDON, and the NEXT FIVE BIGGEST ENGLISH CITIES.

That news ought to cause somebody in the United States to wake up. Over here, unfortunately, we have it drilled into us that our government is neither CAPABLE nor HONEST enough to do anything for itself. We must wait for exploiters of public monopolies to come to our relief—on their own terms.

General Dawes is something like Behemouth, as described in the 40th Chapter of Job, of whom it is said, "His bones are as strong pieces of brass," and "his nose pierceth through snares."

General Dawes proposes to stand "no more nonsense." He won't even prepare speeches in advance, but will talk extemporaneously. For the average man that would be dangerous, and that is calculated to make the calm, cool Mr. Coolidge feel like the farmer in Frost's well-known picture.

Wishing to teach his strong young bull to work under the yoke, the farmer yoked himself up with the bull. The bull started down hill and the picture shows the farmer saying, "Stop us, somebody, darn our fool hides."

The war in China is not easy for Americans to understand. In the first place the PEOPLE of China are not fighting each other. It isn't any civil war.

It is a fight between two Chinese generals, each the military director of his province, each using his paid soldiers against the soldiers of the other general.

It is as though a general commanding the militia in Pennsylvania should start a little war of his own against another general commanding the militia in Illinois, and they should fight with the people looking on.

A distinguished Britisher arrives with serious fears about the moving pictures. He fears they "may corrupt the world." That's interesting AND FOOLISH. The same thing was said when the PRINTING PRESS first came into existence. That also was greeted as a menace to the world's morals, and weakening of obedience to law.

Moving pictures will educate the world, NOT corrupt it, just as the printing press educated the world, and did not corrupt it.

The censorship attacks on moving pictures are as stupid and unwise as was the old British censorship law on books, that Milton demolished in one powerful protest.

A hundred thousand of the Holy Name Society listened while President Coolidge denounced Socialism, as a "menace to liberty." There are many brands of Socialism, and the President didn't specify his brand.

If his views include ALL Socialism, it may make dealing with foreign powers a little painful to him. MacDonald, Prime Minister of Great Britain, and Herriot, Prime Minister of France, are both Socialists. Their countries seem to survive.

Youth in Crime

About Forgiving the Young

Chief Judge Porter of the Baltimore Supreme Court has sentenced two youths, 19 and 17 years old, to be hanged for murder. They probably will be hanged. In Chicago a fight is on to save from the gallows a poor boy of 19, in order to present too violent a contrast between hanging a boy without money and jailing two young murderers with plenty of cash behind them.

The Baltimore youths murdered a jeweler, in the attempt to rob. Those that object to being murdered by holdup men will say that if you don't hang young men you will miss most of the modern murderers and burglars. Violent crime has become the specialty of youth.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

A MAN may mourn long and deeply for a dead love—but he makes a lot of fuss over a dead engine.

* * *

What with her fad for reinventing the Victrola, reupholstering at Hot Spring, and revamping in Paris, it costs a man a lot more to keep his wife in repair, nowadays, than to keep his car in repair.

Helen Rowland

Judging by the way some women keep on marrying, apparently the fact that a woman has made a brilliant failure of one marriage does not be a guarantee in a man's eyes that she will make a glorious success of the next one.

* * *

A man always remembers his own dreams and emotions in a Summer romance, long after he has forgotten the girl's name and the color of her eyes.

* * *

The Telephone Company is always putting on new inventions—but there are no modern improvements on the familiar old fairy tales and excuses that a woman has to listen to over its wires.

* * *

The average husband will do almost anything reasonable to please his wife; but what a woman wants him to do is something foolish and unreasonable—just as he did before they were married.

* * *

There are still a lot of women who put all their faith in Providence but seem to have mighty little in their fellow-women.

When a man sighs that a woman "doesn't understand him," you may wager the price of several hair-cuts, darling, that he has just discovered that she has found him out.

* * *

When a man discovers that a flirtation is getting a little too serious, he sends an S. O. S. for what he calls his "conscience," and busies himself gracefully over the drawing of "virtuous resignation."

* * *

The difference between the "ideal woman" a man thinks he wants and the kind of girl he really wants is about the same as the difference between the "still-life" that hangs on the dining room wall and the real food on the table.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis.

DOWN tranquil ways the golden glory lies where valleys smile and sloped hills arise, while on Earth's verge there drifts a purple haze that veils the distant view, in Autumn days. Gay scarlet banners flaunt their splendid hue where trees take on Fall's palette anew, and lovely tints prove Nature's artistry where Earth glows, bright as some old tapestry. Yet with the Fall, we know the end is near, the end of all the pageant of the year. So, with what joy I glimpsed the heavens today, as tender as the turquoise sky of May! The little, shining clouds went drifting by, white boats afloat on that blue lake—the sky. And once again the Spring time wonder lay across the golden harvest fields today. So, too, across life's garnered sheaves we know sometimes, a little while, youth's magic glow. Old dreams awaken and past longings burn until reflected hints of Spring return. And so with bliss I welcomed back today the poignant sweetness that belongs to May.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

ALL NEW ENGLAND WEEK.

Boston City Committee.

Editor Boston American:

Mr. Charles B. Burleigh, chairman of the All New England Week Boston City Committee, has been called out of town and has asked me to express his very sincere thanks for the splendid co-operation given preceding and during the All New England Week campaign.

It is felt that without your very active help this week would certainly not have been the great success that it was. In rendering the assistance which you have, you have done a great work in educating the public of New England to the wide variety of articles and products which emanate from the States in which they live. There is little doubt but what the results of this campaign will have a lasting effect. If New England Week is perpetuated, very far-reaching and beneficial results will be attained.

P. DYSON SKINNER,
Secretary.

Needs Clothes for Job

Helping Hand Editor:

I am a young man and have been ill for a long time. Before my illness I held a very fine position in Boston, but have been out of employment for nearly a year. Recuperating, and find that someone else has stepped into my place. A month ago I started out in search of work, but was refused, due, I know, to my shabby appearance. All my hard-earned savings were spent paying doctor's bills and for food. I am badly in need of a suit, size 37 or 38, shoes size 8.

E. R. K.

Thanks for Mrs. M. L.

Helping Hand Editor:

I wish to thank you for the help I received through your column. I got a lovely home in the country for my baby boy and I could not wish for more. Please thank Mrs. M. L. for her offer of assistance, and Mrs. H. L. S. again. It is her offer I accepted.

MARY M.

Wants Home for Boy

Helping Hand Editor:

I am a young American girl with a boy nearly five years old, whom I have been supporting alone since he was born. I find it harder each year to look after him and thought perhaps someone of your readers may know of a family in good circumstances who would give him a good education and treat him as their own. My mind would be at rest if I could place him in a good home and it would be better for his sake. He is healthy and good looking. Has brown eyes and light hair.

School Clothes Needed

Helping Hand Editor:

I wonder if some of your kind readers would help me to get some pants and blouses to send my boys to school in, as their father is away. I just had a baby three months ago and have four others besides, three boys, 13, 11 and 2½, and a girl 9. One of our little boys has but one leg and the other but one eye. The little boy with one leg sells newspapers but does not make much. Please help us.

MRS. M. H.

Things for Children

Helping Hand Editor:

I am moving and have a few things I can give away. I have dresses and bloomers for a little girl between six and eight years, suits for a boy four or five, a few children's shoes, size 13½; men's shoes, size 7. I would like to have everything go to one family.

A. K.

Thank you. Mrs. E. M., mother of seven small children, will be glad to get all these things.

Asks Help for Eight

Helping Hand Editor:

I am the mother of seven little children. They need clothes very badly. Their ages are 9, 7, 5, 2, baby two months, all girls, and boys 3 and 6. My husband needs a suit, size 40, and shoes, 7 or 8. Some kind reader please help us a little.

MRS. R. A. G.

Beefsteak for Kids

Helping Hand Editor:

I am enclosing a couple of dollars for "Mother of Eight." Tell her to take this money and buy some beefsteak for those kids.

"MAC."

Thank you, "Mac," for this donation and all the other ones you have so kindly sent in. We will deliver your message to "Mother of Eight."

Clothing for Boys

Helping Hand Editor:

I have some clothing for boys 5 to 10, overcoat for a man, size 36; boys, 13, 11 and 2½, and a girl 9; clothing for girls about 13 and 14.

MRS. C. C. B.

Thank you. We are sending you the addresses of Mrs. M. S., who can use the boy's clothing and the man's overcoat, and that of Mrs. W. Le R., who has four girls, two of which are about the ages you mention.

Sick Man in Need

Helping Hand Editor:

Am writing in behalf of an old, sick man, nearly blind, who wished me to ask if you could get him some underwear, stockings and a pair of shoes, size 7, as he has none. He is unable to do hard work, does a few chores and gets a little food, enough to merely exist on. He lives alone.

F. C.

Shirts for Baby

Helping Hand Editor:

I have some shirts and other woolen things for a newborn baby, also dresses for one about a year old; dresses that could be made over for a girl of sixteen, and a suit that would fit a woman around 38 or 40 size.

MRS. R. S.

Many thanks, Mrs. H. T., a deserted mother of three children, again expecting the stork, will welcome all you so kindly offer.

THE REVENGE OF FRANCE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

FRANCE has suffered a good deal from Americans, especially from advertising. It is because of American advertising methods that French billboards are plastered with the alluring attractions of soap and medicine. It is because of American advertising methods that, while riding in the Paris Subway, you cannot tell the name of a station because it is concealed among advertisements of various kinds.

But the French have their revenge in their own way. They are the best, the longest and the fastest, to say nothing of being the most tiresome, speech makers in the world, and they sure did rub it into the advertising men while they were their guests in Paris. Early in the morning they attended the American pro-cathedral, the American Church, and the Catholic Church of St. Joseph's, and listened to speeches by Dean Beekman and Dr Joseph W. Cochran, who told what they knew about modern publicity.

Then they went to the Unknown Soldier's Grave, where they listened to a band and were addressed by speeches from Senator Paul Dupuy and others. Mr. Neal spoke of the traditional friendship between France and America and other wornout topics. He was followed by Mr. Kirwin, of Texas, who afterwards pronounced a prayer for the dead of France, and the whole performance ended by a band playing the "Marseillaise" and the "Star Spangled Banner."

Afterwards, at 10:45, they went to the Avenue George V., where they listened to more talks by Bishop Kinsolving and Dean Beekman.

Following this, they had another speech at the Battle Cloister for the memory of American soldiers who died in the war.

Then they drove out to Versailles, where they were bombarded with speeches by Senator Paul Dupuy again, also by M. Bonnefoy-Sibour, prefect of Seine-et-Oise, M. Saint-Mieu, mayor of Versailles, and M. Petitpas, president of the committee of Versailles fetes.

Afterwards they went to the Hall of Mirrors, at Versailles, where they were addressed by M. Bonnefoy-Sibour, and Mayor Saint-Mieu. M. Marcel Knecht also made a few remarks that were replied to by Mr. Fred B. Smith of New York.

Then there was a banquet at the Trianon Palace in their honor, after which there were short speeches by Mr. Neal and others. The occasion wound up with a display of fireworks and the play of fountains, and the delegates, who were sufficiently speechified by this time, came back to the Place de la Concorde after midnight. They felt that the French had taken their revenge.

YEAR OF NO SUMMER SAID TO BE COMING

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

MR. HERBERT J. BROWNE prognosticates, on the basis of the newest meteorological science, a repetition of the memorable "year without a Summer" which upset our ancestors a hundred and eight years ago. This is how he puts it, in the Scientific American:

"It is not a prophecy, but a forecast based upon meteorological facts already in evidence, for those who can correctly interpret, that the year 1925 will be a severe one generally throughout the world, and that 1926-1927 may witness a return of 1816, the 'year without a Summer.'

He also affirms that it would not require a completely cold Summer to spell disaster, for "twenty-four hours of temperatures below freezing about June 10 and a similar period about July 10 would destroy the grain crops of the United States and Canada, as well as nearly every other growing thing."

The only other element needed to reproduce the weather of 1816, he thinks, is a violent volcanic eruption like that of Asama in 1783, Tomboro in 1815, or Krakatoa in 1883, or a series of lesser eruptions sufficient to reduce the earth's temperature some ten degrees Fahrenheit by filling the upper air with volcanic dust and thus cutting off a considerable share of the sunshine.

The source of all these general weather troubles—excluding the contribution made by volcanic dust—is, as I have often said, to be found in the fundamental fact that the sun is a variable star. The most practically important addition that could be made to human knowledge would be the discovery of the law of the sun's variability. Upon that all the future depends, for all the worlds in the solar system. The sun's energy may be permanently declining. Such decline is a very slow process, measured by historic time, but it is certain to be marked by more or less extensive fluctuations of a temporary character. It is only within a few years past that any systematic study of the solar radiation has been made. And this study has already made it plain that such fluctuations actually occur, some being of very brief duration.

The best determined decline of solar energy is that which began in January, 1921, and still continues. This was preceded by an accession of energy above the normal, which lasted from 1917 to 1920, inclusive. As to what has happened to the sun in the past, before special attention began to be given to the subject and before regular records of the weather were kept, we know nothing except indirectly from the annals in which anecdotes and fragmentary facts about extraordinary Winters and Summers were incidentally entered. The wonderful "year without a Summer" falls in this category. Its relation to the state of the sun can only be judged by calculating backward on the basis of the sun spot period. But that period is irregular in both intensity and length.

Accordingly, it may seem rather early yet to risk confident predictions of weather conditions, and of general temperature, on the strength of what we now know of the sun's fluctations of energy, one thing which should be understood by all of them is not so simple a matter as thrusting the hand out into the sunshine, as if into a warm bath, and saying: "Now I know is hotter than on the average"—and later: "Now the sun has cooled."

Between the sun and the terrestrial surface, whereon we live, there is the vast screen of the atmosphere, which interrupts, now more, now less, the passage of the solar radiation, and no investigation of the changes undergone by the latter can have any value unless it carefully takes into account the part played by the atmosphere, and this is a very complicated matter.

Then, too, as Mr. Browne has shown, the consequences of solar changes are not immediately felt. The broad, open ocean, covering 65 per cent. of the earth's surface, acts as accumulators of heat, and distributors of it, and if the sun fails them, they in turn fail the continents. Thus the ultimate effects of a decline of solar energy are retarded. From this it is concluded that "the weather for 1925-26-27 has already been determined by the (low) solar constant fluctuations actually occur, some 1921-24."

ONCE-OVERS

YOUR HAPPINESS DEPENDS UPON YOUR STATE OF MIND.

You go too much on the theory that "you will be a long time dead. Your idea that the State will take care of you should you fail to provide enough for yourself is true enough, but—

Have you no pride?

You would be most unhappy if, because of your own extravagance, you found yourself in coming years an object of charity.

It is possible to have a good time and still save something.

You may have to enjoy yourself in a very simple way, but your happiness is gained more from your state of mind than governed by expenditure.

The thought of the additional comforts your savings may provide in the future should be a sufficient incentive to you to be sensible in expenses.
